

ALLIES MASSING FOR BIG DRIVE ON WESTERN FRONT, BRITISH BREAK THROUGH GERMAN SECOND DEFENSE

KAISER ON THE GROUND TO ENCOURAGE GERMANS, RUSSIANS ON OFFENSIVE, TAKE MANY PRISONERS

(BULLETIN)

Berlin, July 17.—(Via London)—An artillery bombardment of intense violence is in progress at many points from the Somme district north to the sea on the western front, the war office announced today, the German line being heavily pounded by the British guns.

(BULLETIN)

Berlin, July 17.—(Via London)—A withdrawal of German troops under General Von Linsingen southwest of Lutsk to a point behind the river Lipa is officially announced by the war office today.

(BULLETIN)

Petrograd, July 17.—(Via London)—The Russians are continuing their successful advance in the region of the lower Lipa, the war office announced today. The number of prisoners taken by the Russians in Volhynia yesterday was nearly 15,000.

London, July 17.—The German second line positions northwest of Bazentin-le-Petit wood have been captured by the British in a storming attack, the war office announced today. The positions were captured in what the statement characterizes as a further independent success, extending over a front of 1,500 yards.

A strongly held position at Waterlot farm east of Longueval, also was captured by the British, while the remaining strongholds of the Germans in Orvillers and La Boisselle also were taken.

British Front in France, July 17.—(Via London)—The British today captured a German trench in the neighborhood of Possieres. The capture of the trench strengthened the British line in this vicinity.

The British also cleared out nests of German machine gun operators who had been holding out in cellars and behind barricades in the ruins of Ovillier and La Boisselle. Otherwise the situation along the British front is unchanged at this hour. A total of about 100 officers and men surrendered to the British, who had steadily closed in upon them, using bombs and trench mortars, the Germans being short of food. In an enormous cellar at Bazentin-le-Petit the British found several wounded Germans who had taken refuge there. It was tragic business for the British litter

ENGLAND SPENDING $6,000,000 DAILY

London, July 17.—British expenditures have now reached a total of more than $6,000,000 daily according to a statement made by Reginald McKenna, chancellor of the exchequer in the house of commons today.

TRUSTY WALKS AWAY

Columbus, O., July 17.—Bert Parsons, penitentiary prisoner, and lunatic man at the prison quarry, walked away from his post Sunday night, it became known today. Parsons was serving a 10-year sentence from Montgomery county for manslaughter. He was once paroled but was brought back for a violation.

A QUIET CLUB

Akron, O., July 17.—Between thirty and forty deaf mutes employed by one of the large rubber companies here have announced that they will form a club in which good fellowship will be promoted by the sign language. Arrangements have been made to obtain a suitable house for a club and living quarters for the deaf mutes. Base ball and foot ball teams already have been organized.

President Accepts Lincoln Log Cabin

Washington, D. C., July 17.—President Wilson today signed a bill accepting on behalf of the federal government the log cabin in which Abraham Lincoln was born near Hodgenville, Ky., and a memorial hall enclosing the cabin. The property was given to the government by the Lincoln Farm Association.

The president will speak there in September.

Washington, D. C., July 17.—

An executive order was signed today by President Wilson allowing all veterans of the civil war in the service of the federal government to leave with pay to attend the Grand Army Encampment in Kansas City, Mo., August 26 to September 2.

PROHIBITIONISTS MAY CHANGE PARTY NAME, AND INVITE MOOSERS

St. Paul, Minn., July 17.—Rival factions in the national prohibition party are lining up their forces today for their convention which will open here Wednesday.

Whether control of the party shall be retained by the old guard which has fought forty years for a principle, or taken by a newer element which is willing to change the party's name and adopt John M. Parker of Louisiana, or some other Progressive as a vice presidential candidate is the chief question at issue.

Virgil G. Hinshaw, of Chicago, National Chairman of the Prohibition party declared that he believes the remnants of the Progressive party are waiting anxiously for an invitation to join with the Prohibitionists.

"Since Roosevelt disowned the party he founded, many prominent Progressives in addition to Col. Parker have made overtures to us," he said. "One of these is Raymond Robins, of Chicago."

Prohibition leaders have discussed seriously the advisability of changing their party name.

Opposed to the new ideas of fusion, changes of name and adoption of the surviving Progressives are a number of leading Prohibitionists, among them Eugene W. Chafin, the presidential nominee in 1908 and 1912.

THE RURAL CREDITS BILL SIGNED BY PRESIDENT, GREAT BOON TO FARMERS

Washington, D. C., July 17.—President Wilson today signed the rural credits bill passed recently by congress. A group of senators, representatives and officers of the farmers' organization applauded warmly as Mr. Wilson affixed his signature.

Just before signing the measure which creates a system of twelve land loan banks under direction of a federal board the president made a short address pointing out the benefits he believed both farmers and the investing community would enjoy under its operation.

"On occasions of this sort," but of real gratitude that we have completed this piece of legislation which I hope will be immensely beneficial to the farmers of the country.

"The farmers, it seems to me, have occupied hitherto a singular position of disadvantage. They have not had the same freedom of real gratitude that we have completed this piece of legislation which I hope will be immensely beneficial to the farmers of the country.

VILLA SURROUNDED?

El Paso, Texas, July 17.—General Gabriel Gaviro, former commander of the government forces in northern Chihuahua, has left Mexico City for the border, to assume his old command in Juarez, Lieutenant Colonel

Leon Buclon, acting commander of the garrison, said today. Colonel Buclon said Villa is surrounded in the bottoms of the Florida river in such a way as to make his escape from the defacto troops seem improbable.

HITCH IN HERZOG DEAL

Cincinnati, O., July 17.—President Herrmann of the Cincinnati Nationals, said today that an unexpected hitch had developed in the negotiations to trade Manager Herzog of the Cincinnati club for Christy Mathewson and possibly other players of the New York league. Herrmann said there would be no meeting of the board of directors of the Cincinnati club today and possibly not tomorrow.

"There are several points we can not agree on," said Herrmann, but he would not say what "the several points are," which the two clubs are not agreed on. If the trade is made it is understood Mathewson will manage the Cincinnati club.

Washington, D. C., July 17.—The nomination of Judge John H. Clarke, of Ohio, to be associate justice of the Supreme court of the United States to succeed former Justice Hughes, was considered by the senate judiciary committee today and formally referred to a sub-committee consisting of Senators Overman, O'Gorman, Fletcher, Clark, of Wyoming, and Dillingham.

No objections to the nomination have been filed and the full committee expects to hear from the sub-committee and to recommend confirmation at its meeting next Monday.

KILLED IN COLLISION

Circleville, O., July 17.—Miss Kate Decker was killed outright, Miss Gertrude Perrill is in a dying condition with a crushed skull, Harold Decker is suffering a broken leg and Clifford H. Decker, the father, is badly bruised as the result of a collision between their automobile and a Seio Valley traction car at Fairview, four miles north of here at noon today. The Deckers live in Madison township this county.

NO PATROL FOR DEPARTURE OF "DEUTSCHLAND"

MAY LEAVE SOON

Baltimore, Md., July 17.—Announcement was made today that after tomorrow no more visitors will be allowed on board the German merchant submarine Deutschland. This was taken as an indication that the water liner will leave Baltimore before the middle of the week, but no information could be obtained.

Stevedores resumed the work of putting the cargo of rubber and nickel into the hold of the submersible early today, the loading having been suspended over Sunday.

Washington, D. C., July 17.—There will be no patrol of American warships of the Virginia coast to see that allied cruisers awaiting the reappearance of the German merchant submarine Deutschland stay outside of the three mile limit. Secretary Daniels said today that the United States has been assured that its territorial waters would not be violated by the allied men-of-war and had no fear that the underwater merchantman would be attacked before she reached the high seas.

So far as can be learned the Washington government has not been notified of the Deutschland's probable sailing date.

HOLD-UP MAN ESCAPES

Cincinnati, O., July 17.—Edwin Von Walden, son of R. Von Walden, of this city, escaped on July 12 from the Michigan State Reformatory at Sonoma to which he had been sentenced for an indeterminate term of from five to ten years for robbery, according to a telegram received by Cincinnati police today. How his escape was effected was not revealed in the telegram. The Cincinnati officers were asked to be on the lookout for him. Von Walden was sentenced to the reformatory from Detroit on June 8, 1914, after a sensational trial in which his mother, a child woman, of this city took an important part.

In May, 1914, Von Walden in an automobile which he had seized at the point of a pistol drove up in front of a hotel in Detroit. Entering he held up and robbed the clerk of the hotel, named Burns. He leaped into the automobile and escaped. A few weeks later Von Walden was arrested in Dayton, and was identified at the Detroit bandit, with the result that he was returned to Detroit after a hard legal battle.

Gallipolis, O., July 17.—John Myers, 45, was instantly killed today near this city while at work on a drilling machine.

Working Hard To Curb Infantile Paralysis

New York, July 17.—The new bureau of the health department, made possible by a gift of $50,000 from the Rockefeller Foundation, to help curb the epidemic of infantile paralysis, began work today under direction of Dr. Alvan H. Doty. This bureau will trace families, members of which have been exposed to the disease.

Although the health authorities were encouraged by cooler weather and a drop in the number of new cases, there was no relaxation of vigilance. Sunday schools, which remained open, had a greatly decreased attendance. In many, doctors and nurses were on hand to examine the children.

To emphasize previous statements that the disease is seldom contracted by adults, the board of health announced today that of the 1,959 patients to date, only 17 were over sixteen years old.

New York, July 17.—A further decrease in the number of deaths and new cases in the epidemic of infantile paralysis was reported by the health department today. During the twenty-four hours ending at ten o'clock this morning fourteen children died of the disease and there were ninety-five new cases in the five boroughs of New York City.

CHARLESTON, W. VA. IS FEARING A FLOOD

Wheeling, W. Va., July 17.—Flood conditions throughout West Virginia were somewhat improved this morning. Reports of the U. S. engineer's office here showed that the Kanawha river had risen to only 31.7 feet at Kanawha Falls. Twenty feet was expected at Point Pleasant where the Kanawha river empties into the Ohio.

Charleston, W. Va., July 17.—For the first time in years Charleston is facing a serious flood, a part of a general overflow in the states of West Virginia, North and South Carolina, North Georgia and Virginia.

In the Kanawha Valley, fed by the New river, which has its headwaters in the Carolinas and Virginia, the alarm was so great that early yesterday afternoon preparations were made for the high waters.

In Charleston last night in the flood sections precautions were made for any stage which might come.

The exact overflow was difficult to determine, but it was estimated at 38 to 40 feet. This would inundate the lower streets of the city and suspend railroad and (Continued On Page Six)

WOMAN SET FIRE TO HOME

Columbus, O., July 17.—Mrs. Sarah J. Cooper, a widow, aged 70, has confessed to Assistant State Fire Marshal Matthews and Carlisle that she set fire to her own home at Fulton, Morrow county, last Saturday night, according to announcement today by the state fire marshal's office.

There was $500 insurance on the five room house and $575 on the contents, part of which Mrs. Cooper admits she removed before the fire. The fire marshal's office announced that the aged fire bug probably will be arrested today.

HOLD UP MAIL

Berlin, July 17 (wireless to Sayville)—The entire first class mail of the Danish liners Eric VIII for New York and Oscar II from New York was confiscated by the British authorities, the postmaster general of Denmark reports, according to the Overseas News Agency today. A report from the Norwegian postal authorities given out by the same agency states that the mail of the liner Bergensfjord from New York also has been confiscated by the British.

RATES NOT CHANGED

Washington, July 17.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today declined to disturb freight rates on vegetables and berries from the eastern shore counties of Virginia to Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Missouri, Wisconsin and Iowa and dismissed a complaint of shippers that rates discriminated in favor of Norfolk.

RISE IN OHIO IS COMING

(BULLETIN)

At 3 o'clock this afternoon the gauge here showed a stage of 6.6 feet and the rate of rise is about an inch per hour, the water from above beginning to arrive here this afternoon.

The Ohio river is expected to reach a 25 foot stage here by tomorrow noon, caused by a flood in the Kanawha river.

This was the word received from Weather Forecaster Dev. ereaux of Cincinnati by Fred B. Winter, of the local wharfbat at 9:55 Monday morning.

Local river men had expected the river to go from 10 to 16 feet, when reports were received of terrific rains in the upper rivers.

The forecast received here Monday said: "Fair over upper Ohio Valley tonight and Tuesday."

The river stage here at seven o'clock Monday morning was 5 feet and 9 inches.

Taylor Bundy Disappears

Taylor Bundy, who conducted a barber shop on Gay street near Sixth, has been missing since last Thursday. His wife, Mrs. Mary Bundy, has appealed to the police to locate her husband. She resides at 1215 Elm street.

Mr. Bundy last Thursday told Mr. Johnson, who worked in his barber shop, that he was going to leave and maybe he would return and maybe he would not. That was the last seen of him. Mrs. Bundy says her husband had no trouble so far as she knew, and she was unable to account for his strange disappearance.

Mr. Johnson is in charge of the Bundy barber shop.

SOCIETY

A camping party of sweet young girls went to Crichton's Inn this afternoon to spend the week, chaperoned by the Misses Katherine and Edna Dawson. GENERAL CASTRO WANTS IN AGAIN

New York, July 17.—General Cipriano Castro waited impatiently today for the commissioner general of immigration to act upon his appeal for an order of the board of inquiry at the local immigration station for his deportation. The former president of Venezuela, who arrived here Saturday with his wife from Port of Spain, Trinidad, said that if his case was decided favorably he would ask his attorney to sue out a writ of habeas corpus. It was by means of such a writ that he obtained his liberty when he came here three years ago. His action is based on a charge of moral turpitude. General and Mrs. Castro occupy comfortable quarters at the immigration station on Ellis Island, where four servants attend to their wants.

SUBTERRANEAN WIRELESS TELEPHONE HAS BEEN WORKED OUT, IS CLAIM

San Francisco, July 17.—Dr. S. Barringer Cox announced here today that he had perfected a subterranean wireless telephone and that, incidentally, he had discovered a new law of physics—that electric communications can be transmitted over a single conductor.

For the last five months Dr. Cox has been working at Los Olivos, California, with the United States forest service in an effort to perfect a system of wireless signals for forest fires. It was while so engaged, he said, that he discovered the possibilities of transmitting the human voice through the ground. He will leave in a few days for Washington. The equipment consists of an ordinary telephone transmitter connected with a battery and a special instrument with a ground wire. The receiving station, five or fifty miles away, is a similar equipment.

THE "COME-BACK"

The "Come-back" man was really never down-and-out. His weakened condition because of over-work, lack of exercise, improper eating and living, demands stimulation to satisfy the cry for a health-giving appetite and the refreshing sleep essential to strength. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules, the National Remedy of Holland, will do the work. They are wonderful! Three of these capsules each day will put a man on his feet before he knows it; whether his trouble comes from uric acid poisoning, the kidneys, gravel or stone in the bladder, stomach derangement or other ailments that befall the over-zealous American. Don't wait until you are entirely down-and-out, but take them today. Your druggist will gladly refund your money if they do not help you. 25c, 50c and $1.00 per box. Accept no substitutes. Look for the name GOLD MEDAL on every box. They are the pure, original, imported Haarlem Oil Capsules.

King of England and France.
In the first year of the nineteenth century the king of England still bore the title of king of France. It was on Nov. 5, 1800, that the privy council, in consequence of the Irish union, decided that the royal style and title should be changed from "George III., by the grace of God, of Great Britain, France and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith," to "George III., by the grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith." The abandonment of the title of "king of France" led to England's foreign official correspondence being carried on in English instead of French.—London Spectator.

A SAD SITUATION

According to the Advertiser, fully one half the motor cars in Huntington, and several hundred are owned in the city, are running either with a last year's license tag, or none at all. That isn't a nice condition at all, but the owners are not so much to be blamed for it as the officials, whose duty it is to collect the license fee. Perhaps, if these latter, put in less of their time with politics and more with their duties, it would not exist. Still, at that, the autoists are not to be excused. It is especially incumbent upon them to comply with the law and regulations. The tremendous advent of the motor car has given rise to many problems of them vexations, until they are settled and complied with. If many violate a plain obligation, it is only to be expected many others will evade another, and so on, until practical lawlessness in operation will be the rule instead of the exception. Eventually this will provoke resentment and there will be enactment and enforcement of statutes that will make auto owning anything but the hilarious and reckless joy of which it appears to quaff so deeply now.

THE TALE OF JOHNNY CHUCK

From down at Narragansett Pier, Rhode Island, little Miss Lisa Katherine Waller has written us another letter and has also submitted a Bed Time Story of her own composition. It tells about Johnny Chuck, and it tells the story most interestingly. We give the story just as it came to us and we are sure that the thousands of little readers of The Times will be interested in this first literary effort of another little eight-year-old girl.

How Johnny Chuck Makes His House

Once upon a time there lived a Woodchuck named Johnny Chuck. He was very smart at making houses. He loved to make them, too. Now I think it is time to tell you how he makes them. First he finds a good place to dig. And then he begins. My! how the dust did fly! One thing was, it was a very sunny day. It was quite hot, too. But Johnny didn't mind. He kept right on digging. Soon the hole was finished. First he dug a little hole. Then he dug to one side, so that if it rained, the rain would not flood his house. Then there was a nice living room, and a bed room and a nice little kitchen. When anybody finds his house, he moves. He's a nice little furry animal. With quite a long tail. I just thought that you might like to hear a little about Johnny Chuck. Very truly Yours, Lisa Katherine Waller, Box 217, Narragansett Pier, R. I.

Down at Grayson, Ky., when the city officials do not walk in the straight and narrow path of duty, they tell 'em about it, and they tell 'em in plain and forcible language. For instance, take this mild tip handed out last week by the Eastern Kentucky Journal, of Grayson, to the mayor and health officer of the town:

"Remember the alley-cleaning proposition, and, by the way, Health Officer and Mayor, we have some of the blindest, stinkiest hog pens in this town we ever smelled, and if the Health Officer and the Mayor know anything about Health Officering or Mayoring, both know that these infernal stink-holes ought by all means be cleaned up, and you ought to be arrested and put into a hog pen until you agree to enforce that law which prohibits these unsanitary nuisances."

Whisper it lightly, but friends and fellow countrymen, a tall, earnest looking, blonde gentleman, was seen to hand to the Honorable Myron T. Herriek a type written manuscript, as they hobnobbed in the lobby of the Washington Hotel. 'Tis said that the document contained a history of "Who's Who" in Scioto county and that the activities of the pecky Daugherty leaders was there, all written down that Mr. Herriek might read and ponder at his leisure.

One thing we cannot understand is why the Hon. Aronhold Sobapiro had to walk with the band while the other fellows rode in the plush covered automobiles with the candidate for United States senator. Why was this? Have they already begun to Bill Sellards the Hon. Aronhold?

It seems to us that council has deliberated long enough upon the ordinance to regulate and license street fairs. It should take some action upon the ordinance before it, either pass it or else defeat it. Let us have some action so that we may know where council stands, so that the people may know what is what.

"You have sounded forth the trumpet that shall never call for retreat," says Candidate Hughes to Colonel Roosevelt. No; we suppose not. The Bull Moose is too dead to skin to say nothing of getting on its feet and executing another rear movement.

You needn't do as much as expected of you, do more is the injunction of the Durham Sun.

We are not quite satisfied that the people pay large sums in taxes to maintain parks so lodges may be assured of a place to hold street fairs. In fact we never had any such suggestion until the present administration began letting them out for that purpose.

At a Cincinnati congress of teachers, a professor, who claimed to know what he was talking about, advised his hearers to go down to Mexico and learn a few things, avowing they could be taught, because Mexicans had more to teach us than we them if they just opened their minds. We should call that an exceeding instance of a voice crying out in the wilderness.

They have set the end of the war for the first of December, but it looks to us as though the real fighting had just begun.

It has come sooner than we expected. The Portsmouth, New Hampshire, Times remarks: "Mr. Munsey's New York Sun doesn't bear much resemblance to the Sun that has been our daily reading for many and many a year. Somehow it seems flat, stale and unprofitable." By-the-way, other newspapers will regret the setting of the original Sun. It was all, they are not, a rare exponent of quaint English, but always clear, clean and correct rhetorically. In fact its English was ever fastidious in every line, but it never lacked in strength.

OH, GEORGE, BRING IS LOCKED IN THE HOUSE.

PICNICS

A picnic, like a comic opera, has two sides. Nobody but mother knows both. Unless a man has to change six tires on the automobile, he doesn't do anything. Mother is the goat.

A man sees nothing in a picnic but the glutton of potato chips and the sparkle of olives. Mother starts her part of the picnic sixty-eight hours before the curtain goes up. She must slice 25,000 slices of bread for sandwiches (it takes that many for a picnic of five people), and then jam, jelly, ham, butter, or something, each slice. She has to make a tub of potato salad, kill, pick and dismember a hen, and a hundred other things that nobody can imagine who has never been behind the scenes, and after it is all done she must suffer the condemnation of the damned for overloading the car with food, which, if it were less by one crumb, would leave somebody unsatisfied. And the must mobilize the children twenty-five times (what is more hysterical than the start of a picnic) and then again, just as father gets his hand on the gear shift, suffer the condemnation of the damned another time for forgetting the paper cups and the paper and salt. At the picnic proper she has to deal out the paper plates, open the olives, decide upon an equitable division of the potato chips, fight off designing insects, and act as bartender. Then clean up.

A man ought to puncture three tires on the way home, out of sheer shame.

General Carranza's note bears a remarkable resemblance in its essentials to the well known remark of the coon to the hunter—"Don't shoot! I'll come down!"—New York World.

More About The Sand-Pile Farm

Or, to say you remember about the sand-pile farm that Margery's grandfather helped her make when she couldn't play out in the yard because of the measles.

For a whole week Margery played contentedly with that farm. She watched the Japanese grass seed germinate and come up thick and green. She watched the little maple trees take root in the sandy soil that Grandfather enriched with just a tiny bit of real earth, and she often stuck real flowers, clovers or morning glories or daisies, in through the green grass and then played that she picked them out of the meadow. It was lots of fun.

And by the end of the week the measles were all gone and Margery could play anywhere she wished—but, strange to say, she still played with her sand-pile farm instead of out in the yard as she had so much wanted to do.

And then she had a visitor. Her cousin Tom, who lived in a distant city, arrived with his mother for a visit that had been long postponed because of those same troublesome measles. And of course the minute he stepped up on the porch, he saw the "farm."

"It's my really, truly farm," Margery explained proudly; "and it grows every day and I can play something new with it all the time."

Tom admired it quite as much as Margery had hoped he would. But after he had played with it a while he remarked, "I don't see why you call this a farm."

"Because it is one," said Margery. "Why not?"

"Because farms have folks and houses and animals—that's why," replied Tom; "and this has nothing but grass and trees and all that."

Margery thought a minute. "That's so," she admitted; "but how can we change it?"

"We can build houses and make animals and folks from paper," said Tom, and immediately they set to work.

They got the basket of old blocks that Margery had not played with for—oh, so long, and from the blocks they made a farmhouse, a dairy, and a fine big barn. Then Margery got out her paper dolls and used as many of those as had suitable clothes. Then they cut more dolls out of white paper and painted overalls on them. Those were the workmen in the fields.

And that wasn't all. They built fences of toothpicks—nice, even rail fences such as any farmer would be proud to have on his farm. And then they hunted out Margery's old, old Noah's ark that she hadn't played with since she was a tiny, tiny little girl, and from that they stocked the farm. There were cows and horses (some of them had but one leg but that didn't matter, they could stand nicely in the moist sand) and chickens and sheep and all the animals one would want.

The children played so happily on the sand-pile farm that Tom's mother promised he should have one of his very own as soon as he got home.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY

O-O-M-E-I-N-T-Y-R-E.

New York, July 17.—Todhunter Martindale, poet and steamboat captain of Crown City, Ohio, is in New York to watch the city grime and see some magazine editors.

Mr. Martindale specializes in verse about it leaves him more time for steamboating. Soon after his arrival he dashed this off: Catlike the city sleeps

Quietly awaiting morn
When the claws outstretched
It will play with the
Scurrying mice
And inevitable fate.
See it grin, and grin and grin!

Mr. Martindale showed his verse to the room clerk at his hotel and after reading it, the clerk said: "It sounds very reasonable." This encouraged the poet so that he stuck it in his portmanteau before he went out to see editors.

He can write poems that rhyme too, and when he was ten years old his "Ode to a Rooster" got on the first page of the "Weekly Journal" of Gallipolis.

The police swooped down on Max's Busy Bee in Nassau street the other day and scroumled all his pastry and not satisfied with that they threw disinfectants all over it.

Max, who lives in a castle on the Hudson, has made his fortune selling food to newsboys, errand messenger boys and bootblacks in the downtown section.

For three cents a boy can get a pretty fair meal at Max's and for five cents he can get all the trimmings. However, the police discovered that what looked like a black raspberry pie was a lemon custard pie after they chased the flies off of it.

They were going to hale Max to court but he was at one of the watering places playing golf.

Mrs. Vernon Castle has gone into half mourning for her pet lap dog that was the victim of a broken neck as the result of being side-swiped by the paw of a Russian wolf hound. It was an untimely end resulting from an afternoon of frolic.

Mrs. Castle called Vernon and then took the train from Ithaca where she is posing for the movies to New York to bury the dog. Incidentally it gave her an opportunity to present her new Marie Odille gown to Gotham.

At a little party given by Mrs. Evelyn Hubbell she appeared in the new creation which promises to be one of the "last word" in styles this summer. The gown is gray and white and the hat is of the same material with chiffon wound around the neck—giving a Nun effect. Vernon, she says, writes that he has been enjoying afternoon teas with the men in the trenches, sailing over to them in his aeroplane.

The hot weather—very likely the heat—has developed a new kind of Broadwayite—the hatless man. The first to appear in the streets and cafes hatless was Earl Carroll, a song writer. He has just returned from California and says everybody is doing it out there.

Those who are just entering on the hatless era have found a unique way of starting off and incidentally even up some old scores at the same time. They check their hats with the hat pirates.

After finishing their meals, they just walk out without tipping them and leave their hats in exchange.

Quite the Reverse.

Newspap—Well, my dear, did the photographer succeed in making the baby look pleasant?

Mrs. Newspap—No, the baby succeeded in making the photographer look unpleasant.—Boston Transcript.

WAR

which was meant for the British reserves and gun positions. There was one case where a litter bearer was wounded and was put on a stretcher emptied when a German on it had been killed by the same shell.

A captured German battalion shows that 600 of its number were killed or wounded by the British shell fire bombardment before the attack began.

New York, July 17.—The Associated Press expert sizes up the war situation as follows:

"Last reports from the area of the Allied offensive in the Somme region indicate one of the usual periods of infantry inactivity. The attacking forces are consolidating their newly won positions and bringing up heavy artillery preparatory to renewed attacks. Emperor William is reported at the front in the Somme sector."

"In the Verdun region the French have been on the aggressive. Following up successes yesterday west of Fleury southwest of Vaux, they gained additional ground last night in the same region capturing three machine guns in their advance. In Lorraine southeast of Nancy, two German attacks were repulsed."

"Paris announces the landing of an additional contingent of Russian troops in France, supplementing the force estimated at 25,000 sent late in April and early in May."

The British have won important new successes in the Somme region. London today reports the capture of German second line positions along a 1500 yard front near Bazentin-le-Petit wood and a position strongly held by the Germans east of Longueval. The Germans also have been completely driven out of Ovillers, and La Boisselle."

Berlin announces an increasingly heavy bombardment of the German lines by British guns north of the Somme region. The fire at many points between the Aisne river and the sea has risen to a degree of great intensity."

In the Somme sector, the Berlin war office admits British penetration of Ovillers woods."

An important victory is indicated for the Russians in the Volynian sector. Berlin admits a retirement of General Von Linington's troops at one point, while Petrograd announces the taking of 13,000 prisoners during Sunday's fighting."

British Claim They Forced Second Line

British Front in France.—via London.—July 17.—Continuing their offensive the British broke through the German second line of defense now have taken all of Delville Wood which was stormed by the South Africans and the high wood, establishing themselves beyond Bazentin-le-Petit, advanced parties having been to the outskirts of Martinpuich and Pozieres and some other points close to the third German line of defense. The weather remains dry and warm.

The operations after yesterday's advance were more in the nature of fighting, the Germans using strong points on favorable ground which were good machine gun positions to gain time in rallying reinforcements. Frequently they are so near each other that neither side dares use its guns, every possible protection is seized and stoutly held by both sides.

Possession of trenches of woodland becomes as important as that of villages. The German defenders of Thronon Wood had orders to stand to the last man, and the orders virtually were obeyed. Cases have been numerous in the woods fighting where Britons and Germans have been pierced by each other's bayonets. It is amazing that in the thick of the struggle at all points stretcher bearers manage to bring out the wounded.

The Germans are keeping up a heavy volume of artillery fire. British guns were able today to reach the main road of Martinpuich which was crowded with transports.

Every one coming from the front remarks upon the paucity of German aeroplanes and anti-aircraft guns despite the reinforcements in other arms. British airmen in many instances have descended as low as 300 or 500 feet, firing upon German infantry with their machine guns and receiving the cheers of British infantry. Such low flights have resulted in remarkably intimate scouting.

The scene of action has been carried for the first time beyond the second line of German defense since stationary warfare began on the western front. Officers returning from the front lines speak of seeing abandoned German guns, but say they are too busy fighting to bother to bring them in.

The most dramatic situation in the battle comes when the German gunners strive to draw off their guns with British infantry within rifle range.

One prisoner complained that the only person in Germany who really had enough to eat were the British prisoners.

It is difficult for any one not at the front to realize the change in the new army wrought by these two weeks.

PRESIDENT IS BACK FROM TRIP

Washington, July 17.—President and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson returned early today from a week-end cruise in the lower Chesapeake on the naval yacht Mayflower. A party of their relatives accompanied them on their trip.

DROWNED IN MAUMEE
Toledo, O., July 17.—Arthur Edsall, 20, was drowned in the Maumee river Sunday when the air escaped from the water wings which supported him. He could not swim.

Ohio National Guards To Undergo Inspection

Columbus, O., July 17.—Militia men were perking up today in anticipation of the visit of Colonel George K. Hunter, inspector general of the Central department of the U. S. army. Colonel Hunter is said to be making a tour of all mobilization camps in the department and his trip to Camp Willis is said to be in no way connected with the reports that inadequate and inferior supplies have been given the Ohio national guardsmen.

However, the militia men expect to be the object of close scrutiny by the federal officers. Accordingly, the camp is being put in good order and company commanders were executing every effort to have their men up to the mark.

There is still considerable speculation among the men concerning the conflicting orders which came to the Eighth regiment Saturday. After receiving orders to entrain the regiment was later instructed that it would be held in camp here until it was "completely ready."

News dispatches from Washington stating that the war department had sent out orders to all department commanders to delay transportation to the border of national guard organizations until they are thoroughly equipped and organized, seems to explain the delay. The militiamen officers now believe that the Eighth regiment will move within a few days, as it is practically equipped with all of the necessities for border duty.

Camp Willis, Columbus, Ohio, July 17.—Colonel George K. Hunter, inspector general of the United States army, who arrived this morning to make a thorough investigation of conditions at the Ohio camp, insisted that his presence here is not a result of complaints made about the food and equipment served to the Ohio guardsmen.

to get credit on their real estate that others have had who were in manufacturing and commercial enterprises. And while they sustained our life they did not in the same degree with some others, share in the benefits of that life.

"Therefore, this bill along with the very liberal provisions of the federal reserve act, puts them upon an equality with all others who have genuine assets and makes the credit of the country available."

"I sign the bill therefore with real emotion and am very glad to be honored by your presence, and supported by your feelings. I have no doubt in what I have said regarding it."

The president used two pens in signing the bill and gave one of them to Senator Fletcher, of Florida, who asked permission to present it to the Southern Commercial Congress.

Secretary McAdoo conferred with the president later on the selection of members of the new farm loan board who will be appointed in the near future.

CHARLESTON FLOOD

business activity until the water would recede.

Reports showed no loss of life but a great deal of damage, and every craft on the river prepared for the high water.

According to the prediction of W. C. Deveraux, United States

BULLETIN
Atlanta, Ga., July 17.—It was persistently rumored today that the Lake Toxaway dam had given way. Railroad officials at Asheville said they did not credit the report. There was no wire communication with Lake Toxaway.

Asheville, N. C., July 17.—Scores of large industrial plants around Asheville lay idle today in the grip of the flood which followed last week's rain storms and hurricanes which swept in from the Carolina coast and flooded portions of North and South Carolina and adjacent territory of Tennessee and West Virginia. Five persons are known to have been drowned, 50 are missing and hundreds are homeless, while railroad service virtually is suspended in a large section on all sides of Asheville.

The Swannanoa and French Broad, that rose out of their banks yesterday, flooding the village of Biltmore and leaving Asheville without gas or electric light and power, were said to be receding early today and it was thought that the greatest danger to this section had passed. Estimates of property damage already have been placed at from $6,000,000 to $10,000,000, while the total loss to crops, lumber mills, highway and railroad bridges and miles of railroad tracks washed out throughout the territory, is expected to grow as belated reports come in.

Should the dam at Lake Toxaway, yield to the flooded waters pressing upon it, devastation in that section would be followed by floods down the Savannah river watershed that would imperil Augusta, Georgia. The immediate cause of the flood around Asheville Sunday was the bursting of a dam at Hendersonville, N. C., and that at Kanawha. Volcanoes of water swept down the Swannanoa river engulfing portions of the Vanderbilt estate and the village of Biltmore laid out 25 years ago by the late George W. Vanderbilt. It was at Biltmore that three persons were drowned before they could leave their homes, while two nurses at the Biltmore hospital are thought to be drowned. Persons familiar with the Biltmore section, expressed the belief that damage to the Vanderbilt estate might have been heavy and thought the Biltmore nurseries probably were flooded. Biltmore is cut off from Asheville by a mile of water. Down the French Broad Valley swept another flood from the broken dams until lower Asheville was inundated and scores of industrial plants damaged. Several hundred mill workers are being cared for here, their homes having been washed away. The Southern Railway depot here and the Glenn Hook Hotel both a mile and a half from the business section of Asheville, were covered with water several feet deep. Two laborers were drowned trying to carry food to persons marooned in upper floors of the hotel.

Near Charlotte, N. C., which also reported heavy damage, eighteen men working on a railroad bridge were carried away when the bridge went down, and either were drowned or marooned in tree tops. At Charleston, S. C., approximately thirty men, composing the crews of six barges, are missing. The barges were torn loose from their moorings.

It was thought today that several days must pass before railroad service could be restored to Asheville and Hendersonville and it probably will be a week or more before German schedules are re-established through the flooded section.

Ruleigh, C. N., July 17.—A boat containing four men trying to save resident Engineer Killian and two other Southern railway employees who are clinging to trees in the river near Charlotte, capsize today and the men are probably lost.

All hope of saving any of the other eleven railway employees swept away yesterday with a bridge had been given up. A tree holding some of the men was swept down early today and the men carried away. Four employees of the Western Union Telegraph Co. are also reported lost. The river is falling slowly.

W. E. YOUNG MAY SUCCEED CLARKE

Cleveland, O., July 17.—Speculation as to who will be the president's choice as successor to Federal Judge John H. Clarke, appointed to the supreme bench last week, was occupying the attention of Democrats of Cleveland and Northern Ohio today. The hopes of several possibilities for the federal bench were chilled today by a report that President Wilson had decided not to appoint a citizen of Cleveland. It is said that Senator Pomerene believes Cleveland has received sufficient recognition.

The name of W. E. Young, former mayor of Akron, is being strongly urged by leading Democratic organization men of Akron and Northern Ohio and he is believed to have the best chance to land the judgeship. Young was a candidate for the judgeship two years ago when Judge Clark was appointed. Young was Akron's mayor fifteen years ago.

DETECTIVES WILL HUNT FOR BOOTLEGGERS

Charleston, W. Va., July 17.—Police officers employed by the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad in West Virginia have been ordered to carry rifles as well as revolvers in order to resist efforts of bootleggers and their agents to bring intoxicating liquors into this state. These officers have been instructed to work in squads of four instead of single-handed. The orders resulted from the increased number of attempts to violate the state prohibition laws.

TREASURE FLEET WILL HUNT FOR RICH CARGOES

New York, July 17.—A deep sea treasure hunting expedition, financed by wealthy New York men, arrived today off the Virginia Capes. Its first operations will be conducted at the grave of the Ward Line steamship Merida, which went to the bottom four years ago, carrying silver bars and other treasures valued at more than $1,000,000. The Merida was rammed by the United Fruit steamship Admiral Farragut and sank 55 miles off Cape Charles light.

The expedition includes the steamships Titania, Fearless and E. H. Beckwith, a wrecking vessel, a yacht and a tug. It is under command of George D. Stillson, who raised the submarine F-1 in Honolulu harbor last year. It was sent out from New York by the Inter-ocean Submarine Engineering company. This is a close corporation, stock of which is held by a few men here in the financial world.

Officers today considered it probable that the Eighth Regiment may not leave for the border until the middle or last part of the week, or probably later. Clothes and shoes in sufficient numbers for all the troops are said to be lacking.

What To Do With "Chinks" Who Followed Punitive Force Is Question Facing U. S.

Field Headquarters in Mexico, July 12.—(by motor truck to Columbus, N. M., July 17.)—What to do with the three hundred Chinese who have associated themselves with the punitive expedition has developed into a serious problem with the army since the shortening of the American line in Mexico recently revealed the large number enjoying present security under the protection of the American flag. These Chinese flocked to the American lines to make money while the Mexicans through pride refused to sell hungry soldiers anything to eat or through poverty were unable to contract with the American troops. The Chinese stepped in without soap, obtained his first good wash by buying a cake from a Chinaman. In the desert wherever a truck train was likely to stop for water there was a Chinaman. Doughnuts, pies, tobacco, matches and fruit, which comprised about all the luxuries known to the men during the campaign in a poverty-stricken country, were furnished by Chinese and by them only. Chinese from points as far distant as Chihuahua became the shop keepers of the army, traveling in two horse wagons with a dozen persons to one vehicle. Like the Mexican citizens who were threatened for having business dealings with the army, these Chinese lay themselves open to reprisals after the departure of the troops. Consequently they have followed the army northward toward the border. Charley Tien, leader of the Chinese here, who claims American citizenship, said today that he would not care to remain in Mexico if the troops withdrew. He said his countrymen now with the expedition, but who are barred from entering the United States, will go with the army to the border, stopping on the Mexican side, from where, he said they expect to be able to flee across the line for temporary refuge in case they are threatened. Chinese here, when asked whether they carried arms, for self defense, shook their heads.

"Carranzistas," they said, "have played great jokes on the Chinese boys who have guns. We hear these China boys have had to enlist in the Carranza army."

Saw Bear In Ohio

Reports are current about the city that several in the vicinity of St. Paul, Ky., saw a small brown bear come down to the Ohio river, near Glen Station, Ohio side Friday afternoon and play in the water for several minutes. A boatman, who was one of the first to see the animal, hurriedly crossed, according to reports and gave chase to the bear. The animal scrambled up the bank and disappeared in the thickets that fringe the hills near there. It is thought that the bear was driven out of the hills to the valley by the lack of water. A bear about the size of this one was seen at St. Paul, Ky. two years ago.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH NOTES

So many requests have been made that the big chorus of the church has decided to reproduce the cantata on next Sunday evening. The choir rendered the cantata on last Friday evening, but the crowd was not as large as would have been had the counter attractions not been so numerous. The comments were very flattering and at the request of many members and friends of the church the Cantata will be rendered on next Sunday evening. A silver offering will be taken. The chorus will meet Friday evening for rehearsal.

Teachers' Congress this (Monday) evening. Superintendent Charles M. Howland is back from a two weeks' trip to New York City and will be in charge of the meeting.

Class Three, Loyal Women, will meet at the home of Mrs. Goings, 1021 Mill street, Thursday evening. Every member is urged to be present.

All members are reminded that the Woman's Union will meet at the church Thursday afternoon, July 20. "Crazy Quarters" are to be brought to this meeting which it is hoped will be a very profitable one. Section Three will entertain. Let every member be present prepared to tell how she earned her quarter. Mrs. John Ault, secretary.

The many friends of Mrs. Chas. R. Oakley, wife of the pastor of the church, will be grieved to hear John Williams, subject, "The Sins of Ommission." This is a ailment has been diagnosed as a subject upon which every member should have something to say. Come and enjoy the helpful meeting.

"Time Of Their Lives" Enjoyed By Youngsters

Over 250 of the Second Presbyterian Sunday school enjoyed the annual picnic held by the school Saturday afternoon in Millbrook park. Four special street cars carried the crowd to the park. Besides the free car ride the young folks enjoyed free rides on the merry-go-round and free ice cream cones. The boys played ball games and took part in the different races. The girls enjoyed themselves with ring games and racing contests. A big supper was enjoyed at five o'clock and the crowd returned home at 7:30 o'clock. "We had the time of our lives," said the young folks.

Back From New York

C. M. Howland and J. B. Lykins have returned from a two weeks sojourn in New York City, where they purchased goods for the Portsmouth Hat company. They enjoyed every minute of their stay. They were privileged to visit the United States battleship Pennsylvania and were amazed at the size of the noted ship. Mr. Howland declares that the boat was manned with such enormous guns that he believes the Pennsylvania could whip the navies of the world single handed. Man With "Cannon" Draws Big Fine In Police Court Monday

"When one carries a cannon like this," said Mayor Kaps, Monday morning in police court when he arraigned Neely Adkins on a charge of carrying concealed weapons, as he held up a large 44 caliber revolver, "it shows that he must mean business."

Adkins was arrested by Officer Platt, Saturday afternoon at five o'clock on Third street near Court on a charge of intoxication and when searched a gun was found on him.

He entered a plea of guilty to carrying the gun but maintained that he was drunk and did not know what he was doing. Out of sympathy for his family, Mayor Kaps fined him $200 and costs and suspended $100 pending good behavior. The wife sat behind her husband all during the trial. A small baby in her arms played with its father's hair while he pleaded for his freedom so that he could go to work and support his family.

To Make Reports

A meeting of the teachers and officers of the Second Presbyterian church will be held Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Poffenberger, 602 Union street. The delegates to the Sunday school convention, Rev. George P. Horst, Mrs. Charles Zull and Miss Mildred Chick will make their reports at this meeting.

Family Goes To Maysville

Mrs. Charles Cline and three children have left for Maysville where they will make their home with her relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Cline and children have been light housekeeping at the Edward Stangler home on Fifth street. Mr. Cline who works as molder at the Portsmouth Engine company's plant, will remain here and board at the St. John's hotel.

Good News For Drinkers

There's a sure way to stop drinking without suffering tortures of mind and body. Alcoholism needs medical treatment. The drinker is suffering from alcoholic poisoning. This is what causes the craving which the world calls "drink appetite."

To knock out craving for drink, you must first knock out all alcohol poison. This is surely and effectively done by the Neal Treatment, which during the past ten years has brought joy into tens of thousands of homes. Three days spent at the Neal Institute is sufficient for this seeming miracle.

Accept this opportunity for new independence. Investigate. Tell yourself or send for booklet "The Neal Way." Address the Neal Institute 601 Maple Ave., Avondale, Cincinnati, O. Phone 4020. Other Neal Institutes located at Columbus, Cleveland and Pittsburgh.

ELKS' BIG JUBILEE WILL OPEN TONIGHT

Unless something unforeseen occurs at the last moment the Elks' Big Jubilee, employing almost five hundred people in eleven big amusing and entertaining shows, will open in a blaze of glory at York park at 7:30 this evening.

The minstrel show is composed of a chorus of forty and the following leads: Ralph Kittinger, interloper; Dick Gardner, Edward Kelley, Clyde Whitman and Scott Dumeau, black face ends. Ralph Kittinger and Carl Wolfe are the ballad singers. The costumes for this show are very high class and it promises to be some entertainment.

Keith's vaudeville will use four acts. Walter Matthiott, Homer Oakes, Ralph Ware, Oral Abrams will make up a quartette of clever singers and dancers. Robert Gilbert, Gerald Matthews, Leon Wilson, Norman Duvall, Stephen Chick, Edward Stokes, Lewis Harris, Harry Bradford, Joseph Schister, Harold Scott, members of a local fraternity, will put on two acts that are bound to please their friends. Miss Mildred Brown, a dancer of ability, will add a novel act. Miss Helen McCoy is the pianist for the show. John Grimes' Big Water Circus will comprise Forrest Williams, David Williams, Walter Dawson, Dewey Adams, Percy Dean, Coleman Grimes and a dozen other skillful swimmers in several clever swimming stunts.

The Temple of Glee, the big comedy show, will have Miss Margaret Poole, soloist, assisted by Miss Ida Feivre, Miss Flora Wilson, Miss Mabel Shaw, Miss Ella Vallance, Miss Esther Valliard, Miss Mabel Hassaman. St. Straus will be seen in a magical act. A quartette composed of Charles E. Clevenger, Thomas M. Clevenger, Frank Bostwick and Ernest Foster. Ernest Foster will also play selections on the saxophone.

The committee in charge has secured the services of Mrs. S. W. Friessner, opera singer, Chicago, to sing each night with the band at ten-thirty as a free attraction. The River City band has been engaged for the week.

Trade Not Affected By A Bad Collision

Two touring cars driven by Henry Winter, a Chillicothe shoe dealer and Joseph Loviner, a plumber collided at Fifth and Court streets last Friday evening. No one was injured but the Winter car had one wheel badly damaged and the front axle was bent. Mr. Winter was driving west on Fifth street and the Loviner car was going north on Court street when the collision took place.

A singular feature of the smash-up is that Mr. Loviner was driving L. C. Turley's touring car, for which he later made a trade. The car was not damaged except that a front and rear fender were bent.

Mr. Loviner was desirous of trading his new Chalmers runabout for a larger car and Mr. Turley was in the market for a smaller car. The collision did not affect the trade, which was successfully negotiated Saturday.

CHURCH LOT CLEANED

Contractors Newman and Weidner have cleared the First Baptist church lot at Gallia and Water streets of the old frame church building bought by Judge James S. Thomas. The church board is waiting for blue prints from Architect J. B. Martin of East Liverpool. They will be put into the hands of local contractors as soon as received.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, trouble, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, O. Office Phone 64.

Dear Miss Wise: What kind of shoes will be worn this fall and winter, the boots or shoes, and what colors? Thank you.

ANXIOUS.
The real high shoes are to be "the thing" either in lace or button and the two-tone effect is to be used more than it has been, that is one tone of vamp and a higher tone top. The real dark brown two tone kid and the gray will be good as well as the black patent vamps with light colored tops.

Dear Miss Wise—I have been married eight years and have been very happy. My husband loves me and his home and children. We have a splendid time going places together. For two years a set of young people have had parties every two or three weeks.

Last winter a young widow got into our set. She is very clever and full of fun. Now our parties would be a failure if she didn't come. This woman is beautiful and all the men are crazy about her. She has taken a particular fancy to my husband. He admires her very much and is an easy victim for her. She flatters him and makes him think he is all right.

So far nothing serious has happened, but I am jealous and can't help being afraid that sometime my husband will learn to love her better than he does me. My evenings with the crowd are just spoiled now. Please tell me what I should do?

WORRIED WIFE.
You really have no cause to worry. A man does not give up a wife, whom he loves, and children for another woman. Why don't you say things to your husband that will make him pleased with himself? When you go out with him compliment his appearance. If he says anything you think especially interesting bring up the subject later and show that you paid attention to what he said. And by all means laugh at his jokes. Most women forget to appreciate their husbands that they appreciate them, which is a mistake. If you find that you cannot keep from being jealous you better tell your husband. Since he loves you I think he will take it in the right way and will put your mind at rest or be willing to give up the evening parties.

Dear Dolly:—Please tell me in tonight's Times, what ocean a person will see when they visit Ocean View, Va. D. C. A.

The Atlantic Ocean.

Dear Dolly: Will you please answer a few questions for me, and publish in the Weekly Times? Is there a singing school in Portsmouth, and what will the lessons cost? Can anyone under twenty-one years of age join the Masons? Is there a recruiting office for the U. S. army in Portsmouth, and what is the recruiting officer's name and address? Is the girl that works at 1035 Gallia street, married? I enclose my photograph. Do you think I am good looking?

WEARY WILLIE.
No, there is not a singing school here in town, but there are several vocal teachers. To become a Mason you must be 21 years of age. Yes, address the United States Recruiting Office, Turley Building, Portsmouth, O. No, Willie, she is not married. Evidently you forgot to enclose your photograph because I failed to find it, but I judge you are very nice looking or you would not have intended to send your picture.

Billy—I cannot publish the information you want in this column regarding the First Baptist church, but if you will call me, Phone 60, I will tell you where it can be found.

Dear Miss Wise: Can I be made to pay for a magazine which was sent to me after my time had expired.

WANT-TO-KNOW.
Yes, if you accepted the magazine from the post office you can be compelled to pay for it.

A REMARKABLE STATEMENT

Mrs. Sheldon Spent $1900 for Treatment Without Benefit. Finally Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Englewood, Ill.—"While going through the Change of Life I suffered with headaches, nervousness, flashes of heat, and I suffered so much I did not know what I was doing at times. I spent $1900 on doctors and not one did me any good. One day a lady called at my house and said she had been as sick as I was at one time, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made her well and now I am just as well as I ever was. I cannot understand why women don't see how much pain and suffering they would escape by taking your medicine. I cannot praise it enough for it saved my life and kept me from the insane hospital."—Mrs. E. Sheldon, 6557 S. Halsted St., Englewood, Ill.

Physicians undoubtedly did their best, but with this case steadily and could do no more, but often the most scientific treatment is surpassed by the medicinal properties of the good old fashioned roots and herbs contained in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If any complication exists it pays to write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for special free advice.

Scene from "The Law Decides" At The Lyric Tonight

Dorothy Kelly, Harry Morey, and Donald Hall are among the stars who appear in the Vitagraph seven reel super-feature at the Lyric tonight.

A revelation in mistaken mother-love, picturing the rack upon which all are placed when a mother's adoration for her son clashes with his duty to his wife, drea, 5e.

and showing the cold, unsympathetic view-point of the law. A great big story of today—full of gripping human interest—a production rich in costumes and scenic splendor. Shows start promptly at 1:30, 3 and 4:30; 6:30, 8 and 9:30.

Admission: Adults, 10c; children, 5c.

De Wolf Hopper and Fay Tincher in "Sunshine Dad" at the Columbia Tonight

De Wolf Hopper, the star who is under long term contract with the Triangle Fine Arts Studio, plays the name part in "Sunshine Dad," a modern comedy, in direct contrast to his costume vehicle "Don Quixote."

"Sunshine Dad" is an old sport, fond of a god time, who does not approve of his son's staid manner. And his wild life with with chorus girls results in getting the son into a complicated predicament. A gang of villainous Hindoos, a real lion turned loose, and a treacherous Count, played by Chester Withey, figure prominently in the play.

However, in the concluding scenes, "Sunshine Dad" proves himself worthy of the hand of Widow Marmore, a charming person, played by Fay Tincher.

GETTING OUT BOOK

At The Temple

"The Plunge for Life," is the title of chapter 14 of "The Iron Claw." The Laughing Mask takes up his abode in a cave high up on the Palisades.

Mergery is with him and together they jump over the cliff. He makes his escape and runs to a trolley car. He throws off the motorman and takes charge of the car. It jumps the track as it crosses a bridge and falls into the street below, a twisted, splintered wreck. No trace of his body is found.

Who and where is "The Laughing Mask?"

A two reel "Get Rich Quick Wallingford" and a one reel comedy complete the program.

At The Strand

"Heartaches" is a two-part Locomotive drama. This is a tale of an old Southern plantation in which the owner tells the girl how his romance was shattered as the result of a quarrel over nothing. This induces the girl to return to her lover and patch up their differences. It is a pretty story, enacted by a pleasing cast.

"The Wooing of Aunt Jeannette" is a screaming Nestor comedy. "Nadine of Nowhere" is a one-part Big U drama of the West, a heart-interest story.

Spent Sunday In Cincinnati

Edward Frank, Harold Thompson, Franklin Upp and Glen Werner spent Sunday in Cincinnati.

MORNINGS ARE HAPPIEST HOURS

We Should Get the Spirit of the Early Day in Our Being

To say "I always feel bright and happy in the mornings" is to strike the keynote of content.

Too many of us arise in the morning feeling sluggish and with no ambition to face our daily tasks. Some suffer from dizzy spells, headaches and disagreeable tastes in their mouths, while others cough up mucus, have watery eyes, or full head after sleepless nights.

These are all symptoms of the great American ailment, catarrh. Its effects are more general than are usually understood. Catarrh of the stomach and kidneys is a most frequent cause of chronic dyspepsia and Bright's disease. Catarrhal conditions in the nose and throat in many cases, lead to deafness.

Even the lungs are affected, because catarrh finds an open way to the lung substances through the bronchial tubes.

If you are not bright, cheerful and refreshed in the mornings catarrh is probably the cause.

The mental and physical condition of catarrh sufferers is pitiable, but it is surprising how many people suffer from catarrh when they fully believe something else is the cause.

Often when people suffer from pains in the stomach or kidney regions, have stopped up nasal passages, dryness of the membranes, faulty digestion, choking and coughing sensation, they blame their condition to stomach, kidney or liver troubles when, in reality, it is nothing more nor less than catarrh.

Tanlac, the ideal reconstructive tonic, appetizer, invigorant, and builder of torn down tissues, was especially designed to combat catarrhal affections of the mucous membranes. It has been found invaluable by hundreds of thousands of sufferers from catarrhal affections. It acts on the stomach, kidneys and liver, putting each organ into normal working order and in this way drives out catarrh.

Tanlac is being especially introduced in Portsmouth at Fisher & Streich's where the Tanlac Man daily explains merits and what may be expected from its use.

Athletics Defeat Tigers

Embler was in rare form Saturday and by brilliant pitching turned in another victory for the Athletics by the score of 8 to 3. Jeffords pitched good ball for the Tigers but three costly errors gave the Athletic boys a big lead in the second round. After this frame the game was close, and witnessed by a big crowd of fans at Seventeenth Street park.

MAN IS MISSING FEAR FOUL PLAY

Fear that some mishap has befallen Hiram Mullins, 2909 Gallia street, caused Mrs. Mullins and daughters, Estella and Mrs. Bernice Runk, of East Portsmouth, to leave Monday for a trip through Kentucky in search of Mr. Mullins who has not been heard of for ten days when he was sent money on which to return from Myrah, Ky.

Mr. Mullins it will be remembered had his left limb badly injured in an accident while at work on the new Scioto river bridge about a year ago. He is 53 years of age and is a carpenter. He left home on crutches about two weeks ago for a visit with his brother, J. A. Mullins, in the Cumberland mountains in Kentucky.

About ten days ago a short letter was received by Mrs. Mullins in which Mr. Mullins said that he had met a man with an automobile who was to take him to his brother's home. The letter was mailed at Myrah, Ky., where he requested that money be sent to pay for his return home.

As Mr. Mullins has not arrived and no word has been received, his relatives fear that he has met with an accident in the automobile or foul play. Telegrams to his brother and the postmaster at Myrah, Ky., have not been answered.

Mrs. Mullins appealed for Sheriff P. W. Smith Monday noon to assist her in locating her husband. Sheriff Smith dispatched a message to the sheriff of Pike county, Kentucky, explaining the details of the mysterious case and asking his co-operation and immediate services in finding the man.

Big Crowd At Concert

Intense heat in the city drove hundreds of people to the cool breezes that swept through Millbrook Sunday night and the concert rendered by the River City band in the Casino was enjoyed by the largest crowd of the summer. The band played that favorite overture "Morning, Noon and Night" and was compelled to respond to several encores.

LEXINGTON TEAM QUILTS LEAGUE

Played Last Game Sunday. Club's Action Comes As A Surprise; Only 3 Teams Left

Lexington, Ky., July 17.

It was a silent crowd of fans that trooped out of the grandstand and bleachers at League Park yesterday afternoon after the game was over. Ordinarily they would have been congratulating each other on the good game they had seen and good humor would have radiated from them in enormous quantities. However, the word had been passed around that the Sunday game was to be the last, and the march to the car line was more of a funeral procession than anything else. The fans bated to give up a team most of whom were known by their first names, a team which was capable of winning a pennant for Lexington, a team which had caused them to forget their various disappointments and sorrows for the moment in those famous last-inning rallies.

While the game was still in progress, Hogan Yancey sent a telegram to President Joe Carr, at Columbus, Ohio, informing him that the game would be the last played by Lexington and asking for instructions as to what should be done with the players. No answer had been received to the message at a late hour last night. However, it is supposed that whatever city takes the place of Lexington will also take over the players which have not been sold by the local management. It is possible that Lexington's desertion may mean the end of the Ohio State league.

Ralph Shaffer, who leaves today for Terre Haute, and McClellan will also leave the city within the next two days. A deal with the Louisville American Association club for pitcher Rorer is also under way and may be completed within the next twenty-four hours. However, the Lexington franchise was the property of all that remained of the once famous Ohio State league, at 12 o'clock last night, and Lexington as an organized ball town became a sad memory. It is impossible that this city will ever have another franchise from the Ohio State league, either in 1916 or in future years. There are not enough real, dyed-in-the-wool, thirty-third degree fans in the city to keep either a good team or a bad one going.

There are several players under Lexington contracts who deserve to go higher. Wright, on his playing during the past two weeks, deserves a berth in a real league, and Hambrick is another outfielder who will be a big league some day with training. Pat Devereux is a first sacker who has no peer in this league, either on the base or in running the bases. He is leading the league in stolen bases at the present time. And any team which overlooks a hot like Burge is making a big mistake. The big boy from Bagdad has made a grand record for his first year in organized ball and is getting better with every game. He has several one-hit, two-hit and three-hit games to his credit, and ran Rorer a great race for the premier honors of the Colt staff. Biddy Beers is a catcher with something under his cap besides the hair.

"For several days I had heard that Sunday's game with Portsmouth would be the last one played in Lexington, but I attached no special importance to the rumor," President Gableman stated Monday.

"I called up President Joe Carr of the league in Chillicothe last night and he had not learned of Lexington giving up its franchise. The telegram sent to Mr. Carr by Secretary Yancey of Lexington failed to reach Mr. Carr, who was in Chillicothe instead of Columbus. For this reason the sale of three of the Colts was illegal and steps have already been taken to prevent the deal from going through," Mr. Gableman said Monday morning.

Manager Spencer and his players were actually stranded in Lexington Sunday evening until the Lexington club owners paid the team's hotel bill and gave Mr. Spencer the guarantee money for four days. The team left for Chillicothe on the 9:37 train last night and will play the next four days in Chillicothe while an attempt will be made to secure a fourth club.

Jean Gregg Goes Back

Just a few years ago Jean Gregg was considered one of the best pitchers in the game. He was turned over to the Lexington club by the Boston Americans. They all come down sooner or later.

HELD COLTS TO THREE HITS

Lexington, Ky., July 17.—Ferguson pitched a great game for the Colts Saturday afternoon and the Colts lost the third of the series, 7 to 1. Bunched hits in the fourth and eighth innings won the contest. The fast work of McClellan at short for the Colts was the defensive feature of the game. Score:

Lexington, Ky., July 17.—The owners of the Lexington club of the Ohio State league decided that the patronage of the club does not justify them in continuing in the league and they have turned their franchise over to President Joseph Carr.

Colts Won Last Game From The Champs Sunday, 6 To 5

Lexington, Ky., July 17.—The Colts won the last game which they will play in Lexington uniforms from the Portsmouth Cobblers yesterday afternoon, 6 to 5.

The Colts started off with a lead which looked good enough to win any ball game. In the very first inning Wright singled and Beers tore off a long double to right which put him across. Shaffer singled and Biddy Beers hit the run, and scratch hits by White and McClellan put Ralph across the plate for the third run. But the Cobblers soon demonstrated that they were going to give the locals a fight, any how. Singleton and Spencer singled and both advanced a base when Burge threw to center field in trying to catch "Big" off second. The little catcher was tipped at the plate, however, when Demos grounded to Shaffer. Spencer taking third. Fisher singled and Spencer crossed the plate. Sims grounded to White and Fisher was caught at second, but Sims went to second when Shaffer threw the ball over Pat's head in trying for a double. Billings, Demos counted. Jacobus was passed and scratch drives by Elmhurst and Bauer scored both base runners. Dilly being caught at the plate for the third out in a wild attempt to score on Bauer's blow.

The Colts tied the count in the last of the second on a double by Wright and a single by Beers, and went the Champs one better in the fifth when Devereux singled, stole second and scored on Shaffer. Hambrick's long drive to center for two bases, however, the Champs were hitting that old pill all along, and in the eighth Hambrick got one of his long flies over the right field fence for a homer.

The game went into the last of the ninth looking like an extra-inning battle, and it looked more than ever like one when Burge flied out to right. But Jacobus walked Rasty Wright, which was a very foolish thing to do, considering the speed of the racy center fielder on the paths. Then he put a straight one over the middle of the park for Biddy Beers and Biddy just naturally picked it. Fisher out in center looked up just in time to see something go by his head like a bat out of the lower regions and when the ball had been returned to the diamond Wright was walking from the counting station to the bench and Biddy Beers was trotting to the club house from third base. And thus ended the last and the best game of the year.

McClellan and Shaffer, the boys who were sold to Asheville, N. C. and Terre Haute, Ind., escorted around the second sack in great style in their last appearance in League Park. The score:

Engineer Shobe Substitutes At Throttle, Meets Tragic Death

Frank Shobe, one of the oldest trainmen on the line, was the engineer pinned under his engine and killed Friday afternoon when C. H. & D. passenger train, No. 202 was wrecked at Glen Neil, near Hamden, O.

The baggage and mail car partly turned over and the remainder of the train left the rails.

Engineer Shobe was substituting for Engineer Frank Pease who is on a vacation. He was well known in local railroad circles.

Blackberry Alley Home Raided; Mayor Hands Out Many Fines

All the thrills of Blackberry alley were given the spectators at police court Monday morning when several who were captured in a raid on the Clarence Green house Sunday afternoon, were arraigned.

It seems as if Emma Mosley, a negress, and Mack Glass, negro, visited the Green house, Blackberry alley, Sunday. The police got a tip that there were several there and raided the house. Those captured gave their names as: Nellie Kountz, negress; Clarence Green and Mack Glass, negroes; and William Thompson, Frank Warner and Samuel Wilson, white.

Emma Mosley admitted that she had accompanied Mack Glass to the Green house but denied a charge that she had taken $15 from him. She was fined $25 and costs and was sentenced to thirty days at the Cincinnati workhouse.

"Well, sir, I meet up with this here lady," said Mack Glass, in explaining how it occurred, "and I've wanted to correspond with her and so she agreed and we've went up. I had $27 then and I've gave her one dollar and when I left fifteen dollars was missin'." He was fined $10 and costs, $5 of which was suspended, on a charge of visiting a disorderly house.

Nellie Kountz contended that she had stopped at the house to see Clarence Green who formerly lived at her home. She was fined $10 and costs, five of which was suspended.

Clarence Green alleged that he had never seen either Glass or the Mosley woman before Sunday and that they had called at his house and asked for permission to "sit there for awhile." "He offered me twenty-five cents and I took it." He pleaded not guilty to a charge of operating a house for immoral purposes and was fined $25 and costs.

William Thompson, Frank Warner and Samuel Wilson, three white men, were each fined $10 and costs, five of which was suspended pending good behavior. They were charged with visiting a house of ill fame.

Frank Warner and Samuel Wilson had been staying at the Green house for several days, according to their statements, while they were looking for work.

New Efficiency Valve Solves Gasoline Price

The high price of gasoline has been successfully solved, according to the statement of Harold Potts, son of J. F. Potts, who has secured the sale rights of the Marshall Efficiency Valve, which he has placed on several Portsmouth machines.

The valve, according to a big list of testimonials secured by Mr. Potts, will develop more power, mileage and speed, and use less gasoline, carbon and prevent more profanity.

Mr. Potts has testimonials from Sommer Bros. to prove that several wives more were developed with the new attachment than before it was placed on their Maxwell car. The valve is guaranteed to give from 25 to 50 per cent more mileage on a gallon of gasoline and should prove quite a boon to auto motory, who are paying from 24 to 25 cents per gallon for their gasoline. The valve will be placed on a car for a week or ten days' trial and is sold strictly on its merits.

Mr. Potts reports that he has placed the valve on more than twenty-five Portsmouth cars and that in every instance it has done what is claimed for it. It is so made as to fit any car.

Instant Postum

This pure food-drink is made of wheat, roasted with a bit of wholesome molasses. It has a rich, snappy flavor much like that of high-grade Java coffee, yet it contains no caffeine—the drug in coffee—nor other harmful element.

Freedom from caffeine gives Nature right of way to rebuild and revitalize the mental and physical forces.

There are two forms of Postum: The original Postum Cereal must be boiled; Instant Postum, a soluble form is made in the cup by adding boiling water—ready instantly. Some prefer one, some the other; they are equally delicious and the cost per cup is about the same.

RECOVER THE BODY OF DROWNED BOY

Within twenty feet from the place where it was last seen, the body of Miles Welton, aged 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Miles Welton, Clifton, was found in the Scioto river, opposite the George B. Miller farm, Saturday afternoon, at four o'clock, by Nate Williams, a local diver. It was taken to the Welton home, not far from the scene of the finding, and was later prepared for burial by Undertaker Thomas Hartman, Lucasville. Monday afternoon, at two o'clock the funeral services are to be held. Rev. James Conklin, Ironton, will have charge of the services.

All day Saturday the river in the vicinity of the drowning was combed with grab hooks and spiked poles. Conflicting theories were advanced as to where the remains would be found. Finally A. F. Miller suggested that the local diver, Nate Williams, be summoned, and it was agreed. The diver took his apparatus to Clifton in the New Boston transfer truck, and after placing it near the river bank, where the lad was said to have disappeared, as told by the two McAllister boys, who were with him, he entered the water and after a few minutes gave the rope, which his assistant was holding, a tug, and was hauled in. He carried the body to the shore.

Mr. Williams said that he found the boy's body in about eight feet of water, face downward, and lying over a small sand ridge. His face was somewhat splattered with black marks, due, the undertaker says, to the coagulation of the blood.

Diver Williams told the party that in his experience dynamite was of little avail to searchers for a drowned person. He said that it had no effect whatsoever upon raising the body. Another fact that he claimed he had found through experience and that was a boy's or man's body was usually found face downward and a girl's, or woman's, with the face upward.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM ABOUT SHARKS HERE, SAYS WEATHER MAN

(By H. M. S.)

Col. Herb Corriell, custodian of the Scioto County Republican club, famed weather man and authority on things nautical, earth and sky, tells a Times man that the "blue nose," "white" and "ground" sharks and other species of the so-called "man-eaters," are also women-eaters—in fact all prefer women, as sweeter, tenderer and more palatable. Herb says there are no indications that any of the terrors are lurking in or around our Peerless bathing beach, and that it will be several years before they infest our harbor.

As to the weather Herb says it is "warming up" nicely, but cooler days are on the way.

Trigger Of Revolver Snapped; Young Man Is Shot In Ankle

James Houston Varner, aged 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Varner of 1815 Timmonds avenue, is rapidly recovering from a bullet wound he accidentally received several days ago in his right ankle.

When a 32 revolver was being examined by several boys at the Carter County Caves the trigger of the weapon was accidentally snapped and the bullet lodged in Varner's right ankle, a dangerous wound being inflicted. The bullet was located by surgeons and it was successfully removed. Varner was later brought to his home here and the wound is healing nicely.

Autos Collide

While enroute to Rarden Sunday morning a green runabout, driven by Frank Snyder, of W. J. Friel's garage, and an automobile driven by J. E. Blackburn, Otway, had a collision near that village.

Mr. Snyder says that he and Albert Sparks were going to Rarden when they saw the Blackburn car approaching. He says they turned out of the road and was struck. The front axle of the Snyder car was bent and the steering gear was placed out of commission. The other car was not damaged, it is said.

Mr. Snyder repaired the car along the roadside and drove it back to this city.

Boy Was Lost

Robert Russell, aged 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Russell, 710 Gay street, wandered away from his home Sunday evening about six-thirty o'clock on his velocipede and was not found until eight-thirty o'clock. The boy's absence was not noticed for about a half an hour when his father called him and failed to get a response. The news of the lad's disappearance traveled rapidly and several were out looking for "the boy riding a velocipede and wearing a white suit."

He was found by Mrs. Lucile Legler at the corner of Gallia and Chillicothe streets about 8:30 o'clock intently watching the services of the Salvation Army.

Fireman Resigns

Dave Scott has resigned his job as city fireman. He was appointed fireman in the East End company the first of the year. Mr. Scott has taken a position as foreman of the "treering" department in the Selby shoe plant. He formerly was employed as a clerk in Frank J. Baker's shoe store.

—after you clean them.

You will find, in all probability, an accumulation of tartar on the enamel and bite of food deposit hiding between the crevices. YOUR DENTIFRICE does not FULLY CLEAN! Loss of teeth is caused usually by one of two conditions—Pyorrhea or decay, both of which develop, as a rule, only in the mouth where germ-laden tartar is present.

SENRECO, the recently discovered formula of a dental specialist, is two-fold in its action. First, it REALLY CLEANS, embodying specially prepared, soluble granules unusually effective in cleaning away food deposits. Second, it is particularly destructive to the germs of Pyorrhea. Yet it is perfectly safe, containing neither injurious chemicals nor hard gritty teeth oils.

Avoid Pyorrhea and decay. Get Senreco from your dealer today. In large tubes, 25c. Send 4c to Senreco, 304 Walnut Street, Cincinnati, Ohio, for liberal-sized trial package.

AUTO THIEF WORKS NEW SCHEME TO STEAL TAXI

Automobile thieves are still active in the city. Only Sunday evening, by a very clever stunt, a Ford touring car was stolen from the Independent Taxi Company, Ninth street.

Sunday evening, early, Harmon Steagall, Independent Taxi Co.'s office, received a telephone call from a stranger who inquired what the charges would be to rent a machine until Monday noon, saying that he desired to go to Ironton and would be unable to return before that time. He was given the price and about a half hour later he called at the office on Ninth street and asked for the machine.

A Ford touring car bearing license number 64,820 in charge of Roy Brown, a local chauffeur, was rented the stranger and the trip was started for Ironton about 7:30 o'clock.

Nothing more was heard of the machine until Monday morning when Brown, the driver called the Independent Taxi Company and told them that his employer had disappeared along with the machine.

According to his story, they arrived at Ironton about 10:30 o'clock and acting upon the stranger's instructions, the car was driven to the Jones garage and left for the night.

Brown says he placed the switch key in his pocket and the stranger took him to a lodging house and left him, saying that he would call for him early the next morning.

Then, Brown, says the stranger returned to the Jones garage, asked for a switch key and on receiving it, placed it in the switchboard, cranked the car and left, saying that he had decided to return to Portsmouth. This was about twelve o'clock Sunday night and it was the last time either the man or the car was seen.

Steagall said Monday that he was a tall slender, middle aged stranger, wearing a dark brown suit, a dark soft felt hat and a dark pair of shoes.

Besides the license number, Mr. Steagall said that one of the most prominent identification marks on the stolen car was the muffler, one side of which had been removed.

Up until Monday afternoon the management of the Independent Taxi Company had failed to receive any trace of their machine. The police officials at Ironton were notified of the theft by Brown shortly after he learned that the machine had disappeared.

ANNUAL REPORT PREPARED BY COUNTY CLERK JOHN W. HALL; INTERESTING STATISTICS GIVEN

Ever wonder what it costs the county for jury fees each year and how many divorce cases were filed and how many decrees were awarded or how many civil suits were instituted during a period of twelve months or the criminal record for a year?

Every single one of these things are explained in an annual report prepared by County Clerk John W. Hall Friday. This report was forwarded to the secretary of state Friday morning.

At the close of the fiscal year, June 30, 1915, there were 74 divorce suits pending in the court of common pleas and during the ensuing twelve months, there were 119 filed, making a total of 193. Of the ones filed during the last year, twenty-two charged adultery; 45 wilful absence and gross neglect; 40 extreme cruelty; 8 drunkenness, and one charged fraud, making a total of 119, out of these, in addition to those pending when the year opened, 69 have been settled, and 124 are still pending. Of the aggregate, 77 were brought by the husband and 123 by the wife.

The results of those instituted by the husband, which have been tried, 20 granted, 4 refused and 6 dismissed. Of those filed by the wife, 29 granted, 2 refused and 8 dismissed.

The total costs taxed against the defendants in cases tried in the court of common pleas during the year was $2,860.63.

One hundred and eighty civil judgments were rendered; of which 82 were for money aggregating, $20,243.78, and 26 in which money was included, totaling $26,265.12, making a grand total of $46,508.90. The average amount of each judgment was $258.38. The total number of cases tried, involving foreclosures, partitions, divorce and alimony suits were 249.

The total amount of money expended in grand jury fees were $638.45 and the actual cost of petit jury for civil and criminal cases was $3,503.35, aggregating for jury service $4,141.80.

There were 57 persons prosecuted for crimes against property, which are classified as follows: Burglary, 22; embezzlement, 20; forgery, 11; grand larceny, 10; petit larceny, 10; receiving stolen goods, 1 and obstructing railroad property, 1. Of these, 19 were convicted; 22 were quashed and 16 are still pending.

One hundred and one persons were prosecuted for crimes against other persons. They are: Murder in the first degree, 13; murder in the second degree, 1; manslaughter, 4; assault with intent to kill, 24; assault with intent to rob, 8; assault and battery, 10; pointing fire arms, 2; rape, 3; robbery, 9; all other crimes, 27. Of these 31 were convicted; 10 acquitted; 26 nolleprossed, 18 still pending, and 16 off docket.

Thirty were prosecuted for offenses against public peace and health. They were: Carrying concealed weapons, 30. Of these 18 were convicted; 4 nolleprossed; 3 still pending and 5 off docket.

For offenses against public justice and public policy, there were seventeen prosecuted. They were: Perjury, 4; other offenses, 1; offenses against the liquor law, 5; and other offenses against public policy, 7. Of these, 5 were convicted; 5 nolleprossed; 6 still pending and 1 off docket.

Attorney fees paid by the county to counsels for indigent defendants were: $650 for 3 cases in which murder in the first degree was charged; $150 for a case of manslaughter; $10 for assault and battery; $30 for burglary; $10 for grand larceny; $10 for obstructing a railroad track, making a total of $860.

There were 54 inquests held by Coroner J. W. Daehler, of which three were homicides; two suicides; twenty-seven were accidents and twenty-two causes unknown or natural.

On July 1, 1915, there were 218 cases pending in the common pleas court and 6 in the court of appeals. During the past twelve months there were 507 suits filed in common pleas court and 14 in the court of appeals.

There were 389 cases disposed of in the common pleas court and 15 in the court of appeals during the year, leaving pending at the close of the year, June 30, 1916, 322 in the common pleas court, and five in the court of appeals.

There were two persons naturalized. One was a native of England and the other from Russia.

Few Crimes On Docket

Grand jury will probably raise this afternoon or evening after sitting since Monday morning at nine o'clock, and will return a report of the cases considered. But few crimes were on the docket for consideration this term.

U. S. Troops Will Practice Flying

New York, July 17.—As the result of the mobilization of the National Guard along the Mexican border New York has become the aviation center of the country. Militia officers from a number of states have been ordered here for inspection and physical examination to determine their fitness for the aeronautical arm of the army. As soon as aeroplanes are available, these volunteers will be given flying practice either at the Garden City aerodrome on Long Island, or in the new flying schools, soon to be established in Chicago and San Antonio, Texas.

The only militia aviation organization that has aeroplanes now is the First Aero Company, New York National Guard, which was mustered in last Thursday. Four machines owned by the company were supplied by public subscription through the aero fund of the Aero Club of America, who also gave the men their training.

Important Bills To Be Rushed, Congress May Adjourn Aug. 20

Washington, July 17.—Consideration of the naval appropriation bill was resumed in the senate today with Democratic leaders bent on its disposal in time to take up also this week the army bill. Democrats are determined to pass the more important legislation and adjourn by August 20.

The naval bill's building program was debated today. This feature of the measure is radically different from the house bill. It provides for completion of the navy general board five-year building plan within three years and puts the number of capital ships to be built next year at eight.

Bills whose passage is considered imperative at this session, are the appropriations, shipping, revenue, workmen's compensation, corrupt practices, Philippine pension and I. C. C. enlargement measures. All have been passed by the house.

At 7:46 o'clock the jury, led by the bailiff, entered the courtroom after having been out five hours. Judge Donnelly received the verdict. He read it:

"We, the jury, find the defendant, William Orpet, not guilty."

There were several cries from the court room when the verdict was read. Prior to the reading of the verdict Judge Donnelly had announced that any manifestations would be punished by contempt of court.

The jury retired at 2:50 o'clock. At 6 o'clock its members were taken to dinner, where they spent half an hour.

One hour later came word that a verdict had been reached. Probably 50 persons were still waiting for it. Orpet was sent for in his cell and Judge Donnelly was still at the courthouse.

Three ballots had been taken. The first two stood eleven to one for acquittal.

WILL REPAIR BRIDGE

For ten days, beginning Tuesday and continuing until Thursday, July 27, traffic using the West Side road, near the Samuel Ray bridge, Rushtown, will be diverted over a temporary road while the structure is being repaired, according to an announcement made Monday by John J. Harper, county engineer. Persons having heavy wagons or vehicles are urged to take the Lucasville road in preference to the West Side, pending the completion of the repairs.

Dr. Henri Halderson, who recently returned from Cincinnati, where he underwent a very delicate operation, performed in the Christ hospital, is improving steadily.

TERMINALS

Mrs. Edith Henry, of Walnut street, left Monday morning for Birmingham, Alabama, to visit her sister for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. James Allen, of Walnut street, left Monday for Cincinnati to visit relatives for several days.

Mrs. Homer Grimms of Walnut street, is suffering at her home with rheumatism.

Mrs. Matilda Erwin and daughter Mrs. Edwin Hyatt and Mrs. John Schultz and daughter Irene have returned from Columbus where they visited Admiral Dewey Erwin who is at the Columbus barracks.

The party was shown through the barracks and say that everywhere they looked the soldiers could be seen drilling. One morning was spent in watching the grand parade from the reviewing stand. Admiral Erwin is in the cavalry and was one of the number sent to Fort Bliss, Texas, last Thursday. The local people were present when five hundred soldiers left. "It looked like real war times to see the large number of troops leaving with their camp supplies and blankets over their shoulders," says the local party. "They said they were tired of staying at the barracks with nothing to do but drill. As the trains pulled out they cheered and waved their hands, a sight that was never before witnessed by any of the party. Samuel Warneke, another local boy, is with the cavalry. Admiral Erwin says he likes the army life and he has won many friends.

A runabout bearing a Huntington pennant and a motorcycle carrying two riders collided at Norfolk avenue and Gallia street Sunday afternoon. The automobile had turned onto Gallia street, going west, and the motorcycle was going east on Gallia street. The motorcycle struck the automobile about middleways of the left side. The riders of the motorcycle were thrown off but escaped with bruises. Their machine was able to proceed after slight repairs were made.

Mrs. Bernard Hagan is ill at her home on Poplar street.

Mrs. C. H. Callahan and granddaughter, Anna Bess Case, of Bristol, Va., who are visiting Mrs. Callahan's son, J. W. Callahan, of Gallia street, was called home on account of the illness of her other son who is suffering with typhoid fever.

Dale Higgins, of New Boston, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Higgins of Gallia street.

Mrs. R. D. Wamsley and sons Eugene and Edmond, of Portsmouth, took six o'clock dinner with Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Wamsley of Gallia street, Sunday evening.

Mark Gyor, N. & W. caller, is back to work again after a fifteen days vacation. Mr. Gyor spent his vacation with relatives and friends at Norfolk.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Kansas City, Mo., July 17.—The Great Plains Championship Tennis Tournament for men opened today on the courts of the Rockhill Tennis Club here with nearly one hundred entrants. This tennis is being managed the same as the women's tournament recently and with twenty courts in use it is expected that the finals will be played Saturday. Practically every state in the Mississippi Valley is represented. Among the players who will try for the championship are: William H. Hopple, Cincinnati; Charles P. Trask and E. G. McKay, Indianapolis.

MOBILIZING HORSES El Paso, Tex., July 17.—Approximately 1000 horses, purchased in several middle western states, have been concentrated here within the last few days for the purpose of providing mounts and draft animals for the national guard cavalry and artillery.

The first of the animals were issued today to two troops of the First Massachusetts cavalry and it was announced the remainder will be distributed before the end of the week.

KILLED IN BRAWL

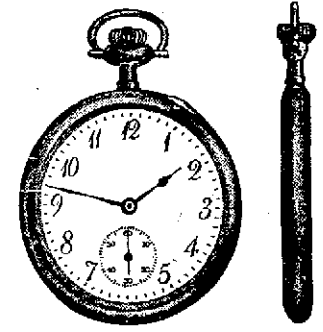

Cleveland, O., July 17.—Fred Scherer, 65, was found dead on the kitchen floor of his home early this morning. Bruises and cuts on the body lead Coroner Byrne and police to believe the man was murdered in a brawl in his home. Two men and a woman, said to have been with Scherer, were arrested today.

ARREST MURDER SUSPECT

Toledo, O., July 17.—Suspecting that he had information that may solve the mystery of a murder that followed a wedding celebration, the police today arrested John Cabal, 24. As an automobile load of guests left a wedding party early Sunday morning, two men stepped from a saloon door and one of them fired six shots. Andrew Szaladaya, 27, was hit in the neck by a bullet and died almost instantly.

KAISER AT THE WESTERN FRONT

REPORT SAYS THAT HE IS ENCOURAGING HARD PRESSED ARMY

London, July 17.—An official telegram from Berlin says that Emperor William of Germany is now in the Somme battle sector, according to Reuter's correspondent at Amsterdam. The emperor has received reports from the chief commander, visited hospitals, distributed iron crosses and made speeches, the telegram stated.

Paris, July 17.—(Noon)—The Germans made two attacks in Lorraine last night, the war office report of today says, but the assaults were repulsed.

(BULLETIN)

Paris, July 17.—A contingent of Russian troops disembarked today at Brest, France.

Berlin, July 17.—According to official reports from Petrograd, says the Overseas News Agency, "in the period between the beginning of the Russian offensive and July 1, the number of those killed reached 14,900 officers and 248,000 men." Included among the officers were 17 generals and 20 regimental commanders.

British Claim They Forced Second Line

British Front in France.—Continuing their offensive the British broke through the German second line of defense now have taken all of Delville Wood which was stormed by the South Africans and the high wood, establishing themselves beyond Bazentin-le-Petit, advanced parties having been to the outskirts of Martinpuich and Pozieres and some other points close to the third German line of defense. The weather remains dry and warm. The operations after yesterday's advance were more in the nature of feeling, the Germans using strong points on favorable ground which were good machine gun positions to gain time in rallying reinforcements. Frequently they are so near each other that neither side dares use its guns, every possible protection is seized and stoutly held by both sides.

Possession of trenches of wood and becomes as important as that of villages. The German defenders of Thionville had orders to stand to the last man, and the orders virtually were obeyed. Cases have been numerous in the woods fighting where British and Germans have been pierced by each other's bayonets. It is amazing that in the thick of the struggle at all points stretcher bearers manage to bring out the wounded.

U. S. Troops Will Practice Flying

New York, July 17.—As the result of the mobilization of the National Guard along the Mexican border New York has become the aviation center of the country. Militia officers from a number of states have been ordered here for inspection and physical examination to determine their fitness for the aeromaneuvral arm of the army. As such as aeroplanes are available, these volunteers will be given flying practice either at the Garden City aerodrome on Long Island, or at the new flying schools, soon to be established in Chicago and San Antonio, Texas.

C. & O. DETECTIVES TO HUNT FOR BOOTLEGGERS WITH RIFLES

Charleston, W. Va., July 17.—Police officers employed by the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad in West Virginia have been ordered to carry rifles as well as revolvers in order to resist efforts of bootleggers and their agents to bring intoxicating liquors into this state. These officers have been instructed to work in squads of four instead of single handed. The orders resulted from the increased number of attempts to violate the state prohibition laws.

CHARLESTON, W. VA. IS FEARING FLOOD, KANAWHA BOOMING

Wheeling, W. Va., July 17.—Flood conditions throughout West Virginia were somewhat improved this morning. Reports of the U. S. engineer's office here showed that the Kanawha river had risen to only 31.7 feet at Kanawha Falls. Twenty feet was expected at Point Pleasant where the Kanawha river empties into the Ohio.

Charleston, W. Va., July 17.—city and suspend railroad and For the first time in years business activity until the water would recede.

Reports showed no loss of life but a great deal of damage, and every craft on the river prepared for the high water.

In the Kanawha Valley, fed by the New river, which has its headwaters in the Carolinas and Virginia, the alarm was so great that early yesterday afternoon preparations were made for the high waters.

In Charleston last night in the flood sections precautions were made for any stage which might come.

The exact overflow was difficult to determine, but it was estimated at 38 to 40 feet. This would inundate the lower streets of the

NORTH AND SOUTH CAROLINA IN GRIP OF GREAT FLOOD, MANY DROWN, PROPERTY LOST

Asheville, N. C., July 17.—$6,000,000 to $10,000,000, while Scores of large industrial plants around Asheville lay idle today in the grip of the flood which followed last week's rain storms and hurricane which swept in from the Carolina coast and flooded portions of North and South Carolina and adjacent territory of Tennessee and West Virginia. Five persons are known to have been drowned, 50 are missing and hundreds are homeless, while railroad service virtually is suspended in a large section on all sides of Asheville.

The Swannanoa and French Broad, that rose out of their banks yesterday, flooding the village of Biltmore and leaving Asheville without gas or electric light and power, were said to be receding early today and it was thought that the greatest danger to this section had passed. Estimates of property damage already have been placed at from

When the report first reached the city that a large body of water was coming this way, and before any definite information could be obtained upon which to base an estimate, United States Engineer Thomas E. Jeffries notified the chief of police that a large stage of water was coming and that for the people in the lowlands to be prepared to protect themselves. This report, delivered by the police, caused much undue alarm on account of the exaggerated imaginations of the people after they were told.

One telegram to Engineer Jeffries stated that flood of 38 feet or more would reach Charleston late Sunday night or early Monday. The crest at Radford, Virginia, was 32 feet at noon Sunday, after a big rainfall which came before 8 o'clock yesterday morning. At Narrows, Virginia, after a rainfall of 2.31 inches the stage was 35 feet. At 5 o'clock the river had fallen four feet at Radford.

Biltmore hospital are thought to be drowned. Persons familiar with the Biltmore section, expressed the belief that damage to the Vanderbilt estate might have been heavy and thought the Biltmore nurseries probably were flooded. Biltmore is cut off from Asheville by a mile of water. Down the French Broad Valley swept another flood from the broken dams until lower Asheville was inundated and scores of industrial plants damaged. Several hundred mill workers are being cared for here, their homes having been washed away. The Southern Railway depot here and the Glenn Hotel both a mile and a half from the business section of Asheville, were covered with water several feet deep. Two laborers were drowned trying to carry food to persons marooned in upper floors of the hotel. Near Charlotte, N. C., which also reported heavy damage, eighteen men working on a railroad bridge were carried away when the bridge went down, and either were drowned or marooned in tree tops. At Charleston, S. C., approximately thirty men, composing the crews of six barges, are missing. The barges were torn loose from their moorings. It was thought today that several days must pass before railroad service could be restored to Asheville and Hendersonville and it probably will be a week or more before German schedules are re-established through the flooded section.

ORPET FOUND NOT GUILTY OF MURDER

Waukegan, Ill., July 17.—Will Orpet was found to be not guilty of the murder of Marion Lambert Saturday night.

At 7:46 o'clock the jury, led by the bailiff, entered the courtroom after having been out five hours. Judge Donnelly received the verdict. He read it:

"We, the jury, find the defendant, William Orpet, not guilty."

There were several cries from the court room when the verdict was read. Prior to the reading of the verdict Judge Donnelly had announced that any manifestations would be punished by contempt of court.

The jury retired at 2:50 o'clock. At 6 o'clock its members were taken to dinner, where they spent half an hour.

One hour later came word that a verdict had been reached. Probably 50 persons were still waiting for it. Orpet was sent for in his cell and Judge Donnelly was still at the courthouse.

Three ballots had been taken. The first two stood eleven to one for acquittal.

HOLD UP MAIL

Berlin, July 17 (wireless to Sayville).—The entire first class mail of the Danish liners Eric VIII for New York and Oscar II from New York was confiscated by the British authorities, the postmaster general of Denmark reports, according to the Overseas News Agency today. A report from the Norwegian postal authorities given out by the same agency states that the mail of the liner Bergensfjord from New York also has been confiscated by the British.

GENERAL CASTRO WANTS IN AGAIN

New York, July 17.—General Cipriano Castro waited impatiently today for the commissioner general of immigration to act upon his appeal for an order of the board of inquiry at the local immigration station for his deportation. The former president of Venezuela, who arrived here Saturday with his wife from Port of Spain, Trinidad, said that if his case was decided favorably he would ask his attorney to sue out a writ of habeas corpus. It was by means of such a writ that he obtained his liberty when he came here three years ago. His action is based on a charge of moral turpitude. General and Mrs. Castro occupy comfortable quarters at the immigration station on Ellis Island, where four servants attend to their wants.

Important Bills To Be Rushed, Congress May Adjourn Aug. 20

Washington, July 17.—Consideration of the naval appropriation bill was resumed in the senate today with Democratic leaders bent on its disposal in time to take up also this week the army bill. Democrats are determined to pass the more important legislation and adjourn by August 20. The naval bill's building program was debated today. This feature of the measure is radically different from the house bill. It provides for completion of the navy general board five-year building plan within three years and puts the number of capital ships to be built next year at eight. Bills whose passage is considered imperative at this session are the appropriations, shipping, revenue, workmen's compensation, corrupt practices, Philippine pension and I. C. C. enlargement measures. All have been passed by the house.

TREASURE FLEET WILL HUNT FOR RICH CARGOES

New York, July 17.—A deep sea treasure hunting expedition, financed by wealthy New York men, arrived today off the Virginia Capes. Its first operations will be conducted at the grave of the Ward Line steamship Merida, which went to the bottom four years ago, carrying silver bars and other treasures valued at more than $1,000,000. The Merida was rammed by the United Fruit steamship Admiral Farragut and sank 35 miles off Cape Charles light. The expedition includes the steamships Titania, Fearless and F. H. Beckwith, a wrecking vessel, a yacht and a tug. It is under command of George D. Stillson, who raised the steamship F-1 in Honolulu harbor last year. It was sent out from New York by the Inter-oceanic Submarine Engineering company. This is a close corporation, stock of which is held by a few men here in the financial world.

NEW CHAPTER IN CASEMENT PERSON CASE

London, July 17.—A new chapter opened today in Sir Roger Casement's fight against being executed for high treason for his activities in the Dublin revolts. Sir Roger's case has reached the court of appeals, and although the hearing hardly compared in public interest with the trial, the privileged spectators began to take seats an hour before the court was called to order.

Justice Darling, by reason of his seniority as king's bench judge, presided with Justices Bray and Scrutton on his right and Justices Lawrence and Atkin on his left. By special permission Sir Roger was present. He was attired in a lounge suit. Sir Roger's counsel immediately upon opening argument, raised the technical point that the law governing treason does not include any offense to the king's enemies outside of the realm.

STEAMER IS DISABLED

Seattle, Wash., July 17.—A tug is to be dispatched today to the aid of the steamship Northwestern partly disabled by the breaking of propeller blades about 200 miles off Cape St. Elias. The vessel, bound here from Prince William Sound, carries thirty passengers.

LEXINGTON TEAM QUILTS LEAGUE

Played Last Game Sunday. Club's Action Comes As A Surprise; Only 3 Teams Left

Lexington, Ky., July 17.

It was a silent crowd of fans that trooped out of the grandstand and bleachers at League Park yesterday afternoon after the game was over. Ordinarily they would have been congratulating each other on the good game, they had seen and good humor would have radiated from them in enormous quantities. However, the word had been passed around that the Sunday game was to be the last, and the march to the car line was more of a funeral procession than anything else. The fans hated to give up a team most of whom were known by their first names, a team which was capable of winning a pennant for Lexington, a team which had caused them to forget their various disappointments and sorrows for the moment in those famous last-inning rallies.

While the game was still in progress, Hogan Yancey sent a telegram to President Joe Carr, at Columbus, Ohio, informing him that the game would be the last played by Lexington and asking for instructions as to what should be done with the players. No answer had been received to the message at a late hour last night. However, it is supposed that whatever city takes the place of Lexington will also take over the players which have not been sold by the local management. It is possible that Lexington's desertion may mean the end of the Ohio State league.

Ralph Shafer will leave today for Terre Haute, and McClellan will also leave the city within the next two days. A deal with the Louisville American Association club for pitcher Rorer is also under way and may be completed within the next twenty-four hours. However, the Lexington franchise was the property of all that remains of the once famous Ohio State league at 12 o'clock last night, and Lexington as an organized ball team became a sad memory. It is impossible that this city will ever have another franchise from the Ohio State league, either in 1916 or in future years. There are not enough real fans in the city to keep either a good team or a bad one going.

There are several players under Lexington contracts who deserve to go higher. Wright, on his playing during the past two weeks, deserves a berth in a real league, and Hambrick is another outfielder who will be a big leaguer some day with training. Pat Devereux is a first sacker who has no peer in this league, either on the bag or in running the bases. He is leading the league in stolen bases at the present time. And any team which overlooks a bat like Devereux is making a big mistake. The big boy from Euclid has made a grand record for his first year in organized ball and is getting better with every game. He has several one-hit, two-hit and three-hit games to his credit, and ran better a great race for the premier honors of the Golt staff.

Biddy Beers is a catcher with something under his cap besides the hair. "For several days I had heard that Sunday's game with Portsmouth would be the last one played in Lexington, but I attached no special importance to the rumor," President Gableman stated Monday.

"I called up President Joe Carr of the league in Chillicothe last night and he had not learned of Lexington giving up its franchise. The telegram sent to Mr. Carr by Secretary Yancey of Lexington failed to reach Mr. Carr, who was in Chillicothe instead of Columbus. For this reason the sale of three of the Colts will be illegal and steps have already been taken to prevent the deals from going through," Mr. Gableman said Monday morning.

Manager Spencer and his players were actually stranded in Lexington Sunday evening until the Lexington club owners paid the team's hotel bill and gave Mr. Spencer the guarantee money for four days. The team left for Chillicothe on the 9:37 train last night and will play the next four days in Chillicothe while an attempt will be made to secure a fourth club.

LIGHT HARNESS RACING OPENS AT CLEVELAND

Cleveland, July 17.—Opening day of the grand circuit for the season was marked by bright warm weather with a cooling breeze blowing off the lake to temper the heat. The indications pointed to a large crowd for the initial card, which consists of the 2:00 trot, 2:37 pace, Edwards stake for 2:10 pacers and the Forest City Sweepstakes for two year old trotters. The track was reported to be fast and in excellent condition. The races start at 2 p. m.

Of the four events the Edwards stake is easily the feature. Billy Dale, Walter Cox's entry, will be the favorite.

The opening day will be marked by the absence of Ed F. Geers, dean of drivers, who is still in the hospital from injuries sustained in a smashup last Thursday.

Colts Won Last Game From The Champs Sunday, 6 To 5

Lexington, Ky., July 17.—The Colts

won the last game which they will play in Lexington uniforms from the Portsmouth Cobblers yesterday afternoon, 6 to 5. The Colts started off with a lead which looked good enough to win any ball game. In the very first inning, Wright singled and Beers tore off a long double to right which put him across. Shafer singled and Biddy Beers crossed the plate and the Colts were trotting to the clubhouse from third base. And thus ended the last and the best game of the year.

McClellan and Shafer, the boys who were sold to Asheville, N. C. and Terre Haute, Ind., cavorted around the season and took in great style in their last appearance in League Park. Relative to the new turn of affairs at Lexington the Associated Press Monday said:

Lexington, Ky., July 17.—The owners of the Lexington club of the Ohio State league decided that the patronage of the club does not justify them in continuing in the league and they have turned their franchise over to President Joseph Carr.

Mamaux Is Real Star

The season's best box work has been accomplished by Al Mamaux, the Pittsburgh phenom, who is several notches beyond the field. Exhibiting his wares with a ball club that has been down deep in the rut all year, Mamaux has won 13 games and lost but 1. This record would be fine enough with a winning club. Put through upon a losing machine it is a mark without any close rivalry in sight. Any lingering doubt about the unusual ability of Mamaux is now swept away. Since joining the Pirates outfit in 1915 he has won 31 games and lost 9. Any young pitcher who can move at a 750 clip while second division ball club is a marvel in an age when all contenders are judged in the main by results.

Pitching Staff Weak

John McGraw believes that the acquisition of Herzog will make his club a pennant winner. At least, John says he believes that. But John is a pretty smooth article and perhaps he means next season. Admitting the brilliance of Herzog's playing it is not likely that the addition of one man will make a pennant winner out of a team which is at the 500 mark, with the season more than half over. The Giants have for much opposition to come through this season, and they have not the pitching strength. They have a long list of double-headers to play off in the East, both on their own grounds and in the three other Eastern cities. Double-headers are deadly for a team that is not well supplied with good pitching material. The Giants have today only two men in first-class shape and gates well, namely, Reardon and Anderson. The rest of McGraw's staff is very un-certain.

Reds Drop Another

The Reds were defeated again Sunday, the Boston Braves winning over the Rhinelanders, 1 to 1. Tooley was outpitched by Barnes. It begins to look like the club that beats out the Braves will win the National league pennant.

A SAD SITUATION

According to the Advertiser, fully one half the motor cars in Huntington, and several hundred are owned in the city, are running either with a last year's license tag, or none at all. That isn't a nice condition at all, but the owners are not so much to be blamed for it as the officials, whose duty it is to collect the license fee. Perhaps, if these latter, put in less of their time with politics and more with their duties, it would not exist. Still, at that, the autoists are not to be excused. It is especially incumbent upon them to comply with the law and regulations. The tremendous advent of the motor car has given rise to many problems of vexations, until they are settled and complied with. If, many violate a plain obligation, it is only to be expected many others will evade another, and so on, until practical lawlessness in operation will be the rule instead of the exception. Eventually this will provoke resentment and there will be enactment and enforcement of statutes that will make auto owning anything but the hilarious and reckless joy of which it appears to quaff so deeply now.

THE TALE OF JOHNNY CHUCK

From down at Narragansett Pier, Rhode Island, little Miss Lisa Katherine Waller has written us another letter and has also submitted a Bed Time Story of her own composition. It tells about Johnny Chuck, and it tells the story most interestingly. We give the story just as it came to us and we are sure that the thousands of little readers of The Times will be interested in this first literary effort of another little eight-year-old girl.

How Johnny Chuck Makes His House

Once upon a time there lived a Woodchuck named Johnny Chuck. He was very smart at making houses. He loved to make them, too. Now I think it is time to tell you how he makes them. First he finds a good place to dig. And then he begins. My! how the dust did fly! One thing was, it was a very sunny day. It was quite hot, too. But Johnny didn't mind. He kept right on digging. Soon the hole was finished. First he dug a little hole. Then he dug to one side, so that if it rained, the rain would not flood his house. Then there was a nice living room, and a bed room and a nice little kitchen. When anybody finds his house, he moves. He's a nice little furry animal. With quite a long tail. I just thought that you might like to hear a little about Johnny Chuck. Very truly Yours, Lisa Katherine Waller, Box 217, Narragansett Pier, R. I.

Down at Grayson, Ky., when the city officials do not walk in the straight and narrow path of duty, they tell 'em about it, and they tell 'em in plain and forcible language. For instance, take this mild tip handed out last week by the Eastern Kentucky Journal, of Grayson, to the mayor and health officer of the town:

"Remember the alley-cleaning proposition, and, by the way, Health Officer and Mayor, we have some of the blamestest, stinkiest hog pens in this town we ever smelled, and if the Health Officer and the Mayor know anything about Health Officering or Mayoring, both know that these infernal stink-holes ought by all means be cleaned up, and you ought to be arrested and cast into a hog pen until you agree to enforce that law which prohibits these unsanitary nuisances."

Whisper it lightly, but friends and fellow countrymen, a tall, earnest looking, blonde gentleman, was seen to hand to the Honorable Myron T. Herriek a type written manuscript, as they hobnobbed in the lobby of the Washington Hotel. 'Tis said that the document contained a history of "Who's Who" in Scioto county and that the activities of the pesky Daugherty leaders was there, all written down that Mr. Herriek might read and ponder at his leisure.

One thing we cannot understand is why the Hon. Aronhold Schapiro had to walk with the band while the other fellows rode in the plush covered automobiles with the candidate for United States senator. Why was this? Have they already begun to Bill Sellards the Hon. Aronhold?

It seems to us that council has deliberated long enough upon the ordinance to regulate and license street fairs. It should take some action upon the ordinance before it, either pass it or else defeat it. Let us have some action so that we may know where council stands, so that the people may know what is what.

"You have sounded forth the trumpet that shall never call for retreat," says Candidate Hughes to Colonel Roosevelt. No; we suppose not. The Bull Moose is too dead to skin to say anything of getting on its feet and executing another rear movement.

We are not quite satisfied that the people pay large sums in taxes to maintain parks so lodges may be assured of a place to hold street fairs. In fact we never had any such suggestion until the present administration began letting them out for that purpose.

At a Cincinnati congress of teachers, a professor, who claimed to know what he was talking about, advised his hearers to go down to Mexico and learn a few things, avowing they could be taught, because Mexicans had more to teach us than we than if they just opened their minds. We should call that an exceeding instance of a voice crying out in the wilderness.

Kansas City, the part which lies in Kansas, is going to have a whipping post for wife-beaters, on a prominent street corner. Away off to the Houston Post that looks like a vigorous manner of thrashing out family troubles. Yes, rather so, but, doubtless, quite effective.

They have set the end of the war for the first of December, but it looks to us as though the real fighting had just begun.

It has come sooner than we expected. The Portsmouth, New Hampshire, Times remarks: "Mr. Munsey's New York Sun doesn't bear much resemblance to the Sun that has been our daily reading for many and many a year. Somehow it seems flat, stale and unprofitable." By-the-way, other newspapers will regret the setting of the original Sun. It was all; they are not, a rare expositor of quaint English, but always clear, clean and correct rhetorically. In fact its English was ever fastidious in every line, but it never lacked in strength.

PICNICS
A picnic, like a comic opera, has two sides. Nobody but mother knows both. Unless a man has to change six tires on the automobile, he doesn't do anything. Mother is the goat.

A man sees nothing in a picnic but the glitter of potato chips and the sparkle of olives. Mother starts her part of the picnic sixty-eight hours before the curtain goes up. She must slice 25,000 slices of bread for sandwiches (it takes that many for a picnic of five people), and then jam, jelly, ham, butter, or something, each slice. She has to make a tub of potato salad, kill, pick and assemble a hen, and a hundred other things that nobody can imagine who has never been behind the scenes, and after it is all done she must suffer the condemnation of the damned for overloading the car with food, which, if it were less by one crumb, would leave somebody unsatisfied. And she must mobilize the children twenty-two times (what is more hysterical than the start of a picnic) and then again, just as father gets his hand on the gear shift, suffer the condemnation of the damned another time for forgetting the paper cups and the pepper and salt. At the picnic proper she has to deal out the paper plates, open the olive jar, divide upon an equitable division of the potato chips, fight off designing insects, and act as bur-tender. Then clean up.

A man ought to puncture three tires on the way home, out of sheer shame.

More About The Sand-Pile Farm

Or, rather, you remember about the sand-pile farm that Margery's grandfather helped her make when she couldn't play out in the yard because of the measles.

For a whole week Margery played contentedly with that farm. She watched the Japanese grass seed germinate and come up thick and green. She watched the little maple trees take root in the sandy soil that Grandfather enriched with just a tiny bit of real earth, and she often stuck real flowers, clover or morning glories or daisies, in through the green grass and then played that she picked them out of the meadow. It was lots of fun.

And by the end of the week the meadow was all gone and Margery could play anywhere she wished, but, strange to say, she still played with her sand-pile farm instead of out in the yard as she had so much wanted to!

And then she had a visitor. Her cousin Tom, who lived in a distant city, arrived with his mother for a visit that had been long postponed because of those same troublesome measles. And of course the cousins stepped up on the porch, he saw the "farm."

"It's my really, truly farm," Margery explained proudly; "and it grows every day and I can play something new with it all the time."

Tom admired it quite as much as Margery had hoped he would. But after he had played with it a while he remarked, "I don't see why you call this a farm."

"Because it is one," said Margery. "Why not?"

"Because farms have folks and houses and animals—that's why," replied Tom; "and this has nothing but grass and trees and all that."

Margery thought a minute. "That's so," she admitted; "but how can we change it?"

"We can build houses and make animals and folks from paper," said Tom, and immediately they set to work.

They got the basket of old blocks that Margery had not played with for—oh, so long, and from the blocks they made a farmhouse, a dairy, and a fine big barn. Then Margery got out her paper dolls and used as many of those as had suitable clothes.

Then they cut more dolls out of white paper and painted overalls on them. Those were the workmen in the fields.

And that wasn't all. They built fences of toothpicks—nice, even rail fences such as any farmer would be proud to have on his farm. And then they hunted out Margery's old, old, old Noah's ark that she hadn't played with since she was a tiny, tiny little girl, and from that they stocked the farm. There were cows and horses (some of them had but one leg but that didn't matter, they could stand nicely in the moist sand) and water-dogs and sheep and all the animals one would want.

The children played so happily on the sand-pile farm that Tom's mother promised he should have one of his very own as soon as he got home.

Let others work and lose their health

In piling up the sordid wealth. But that is not my wish. Let others burn the midnight oil, Devising ways of grabbing spoils; I'd rather sit and fish.

Let others solve the problems great

Affecting the affairs of state; None of that on my dish. Let others hew the nation's path And hear the thankless public's wrath; I'd rather sit and fish.

Let others lead the strenuous life, That's full of worry, toil and strife;

But that's not my ambition. Let others wear their lives away, By living five years every day; I'd rather sit and fish.

As Usual

"I understand that Grace has broken with George."

"Yes! But she broke him before she broke with him."

Keeping Them Busy

A travesty, recently returned from India, was giving his impressions.

"What a country it is!" he exclaimed. "There everybody keeps dozens of servants. I had four whose whole business was to look after my pipe. One brought it to me, another filled it, a third lighted it for me—"

"The fourth smoked it for me. Tobacco never agreed with me!"

The Fan

"I'm going to move into the city for the summer."

"Into the city? I should think the summer would be just the time when you'd want to be in the country."

"What! And miss all the ball games? Not on your life!"

Leave It To The Newspaper Men

"The most outrageous show I ever had of getting a fee," said a lawyer to a newspaper man, "was when a client came to me with no other asset than a watch without any works in it."

"I suppose you took the case," said the newspaper man.

LEXINGTON TEAM QUILTS LEAGUE

Played Last Game Sunday. Club's Action Comes As A Surprise; Only 3 Teams Left

Lexington, Ky., July 17.

It was a silent crowd of fans that trooped out of the grandstand and bleachers at League Park yesterday afternoon after the game was over. Ordinarily they would have been congratulating each other on the good game they had seen and good humor would have radiated from them in enormous quantities. However, the word had been passed around that the Sunday game was to be the last, and the march to the car line was more of a funeral procession than anything else. The fans hated to give up a team most of whom were known by their first names, a team which had been capable of winning a pennant for Lexington, a team which had caused them to forget their various disappointments and sorrows for the moment in those famous last-inning rallies.

While the game was still in progress, Hogan Yancey sent a telegram to President Joe Carr, at Columbus, Ohio, informing him that the game would be the last played by Lexington and asking for instructions as to what should be done with the players. No answer had been received to the message at a late hour last night. However, it is supposed that whatever city takes the place of Lexington will also take over the players which have not been sold by the local management. It is possible that Lexington's desertion may mean the end of the Ohio State League.

Ralph Shaffer will leave today for Terre Haute, and McClellan will also leave the city within the next two days. A deal with the Louisville team Association club for pitcher Borer is also under way and may be completed within the next twenty-four hours. However, the Lexington franchise was the property of all that remains of the once famous Ohio State League at 12 o'clock last night, and Lexington as an organized ball town became a sad memory. It is impossible to say how many fans in the city to keep either a good team or a bad one going.

There are several players under Lexington contracts who deserve to go higher. Wright, on his playing during the past two weeks, deserves a berth in a real league, and Hambrick is another outfielder who will be a big leaguer some day with training. Pat Devereux is a first sacker who has no peer in this league, either on the bag or in running the bases. He is leading the league in stolen bases at the present time. And any team which overlooks a bet like Devereux is making a big mistake. The big boy from England has made a grand record for his first year in organized ball and is getting better with every game. He has several one-hit, two-hit and three-hit games to his credit, and ran Borer a great race for the premier honors of the Colt staff. Biddy Beers is a catcher with something under his cap besides the hair.

"For several days I had heard that Sunday's game with Portsmouth would be the last one played in Lexington, but I attached no special importance to the rumor," President Gableman stated Monday.

"I called up President Joe Carr of the league in Chillicothe last night and he had not learned of Lexington giving up its franchise. The telegram sent to Mr. Carr by Secretary Yancey of Lexington failed to reach Mr. Carr, who was in Chillicothe instead of Columbus. For this reason the sale of three of the Colts will be illegal and steps have already been taken to prevent the deals from going through," Mr. Gableman said Monday morning.

Manager Spencer and his players were actually stranded in Lexington Sunday evening until the Lexington club owners paid the team's hotel bill and gave Mr. Spencer the guaranteed money for four days. The team left for Chillicothe on the 9:37 train last night and will play the next four days in Chillicothe while an attempt will be made to secure a fourth club.

LIGHT HARNESS RACING OPENS AT CLEVELAND

Cleveland, July 17.—Opening day of the grand circuit for the season was marked by bright warm weather with a cooling breeze blowing off the lake to temper the heat. The indications pointed to a large crowd for the initial card, which consists of the 2:30 trot, 2:57 pace, Edwards stake for 2:10 pacers and the Forest City Sweepstakes for two year old trotters. The track was reported to be fast and in excellent condition. The races start at 2 p. m.

Of the four events the Edwards stake is easily the feature. Billy Dale, Walter Cox's entry, will be the favorite. The opening day will be marked by the absence of Ed F. Geers, dean of drivers, who is still in the hospital from injuries sustained in a smashup last Thursday.

Just a few years ago Jean Gregg was considered one of the best pitchers in the game. He was turned over to Buffalo Saturday by the Boston Americans. They all came down sooner or later.

HELD COLTS TO THREE HITS

Lexington, Ky., July 17.—Perguson pitched a great game for the Colts yesterday afternoon and the Colts lost the first of the series, 7 to 1. Bunched hits in the fourth and eighth innings won the contest. The fast work of McClellan on short for the locals was the defensive feature of the game. Warning Gold Dishes. Castle Kilbrenny is one of the oldest inhabited dwellings in the world, some of the rooms being 800 years old. Among its ancient treasures is a service of gold plate. Besides the ordinary plate service, Castle Kilbrenny has the whole series of gold cups used at coronation banquets down to the time of George IV. The gold of the service plates is almost without alloy, consequently very soft and easily marred. Hence the plates are warmed and presumably also washed after use by being dipped into hot water held by a pair of tongs whose tips have been muffled in channels leather. London Globe.

Colts Won Last Game From The Champs Sunday, 6 To 5

Lexington, Ky., July 17.—The Colts won the last game which they will play in Lexington uniforms from the Portsmouth Cobblers yesterday afternoon, 6 to 3.

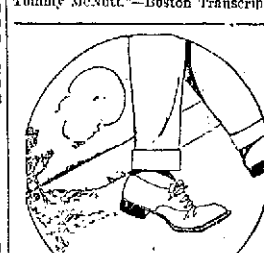

The Colts started off with a lead which looked good enough to win any ball game. In the very first inning, Wright singled and Beers tore off a long double to right which put him across. Shaffer singled and Biddy crossed the pan, and scratch hits by White and McClellan put Ralph across the pan for the third run. But the Colts going to give the locals a fight, now. Singleton and Spencer singled and both advanced a base when Borge threw to center field in trying to catch "Sing" off second. The little catcher was nipped at the plate, however, when Demore grounded to Shaffer, Spencer taking third. Fisher singled and Spencer crossed the pan. Sims grounded to White and Fisher was caught at second, but Sims went to second when Shaffer threw the ball over Pat's head in trying for a double. Killing. Demore counted. Jacobus was passed and scratch drives by Dillhoefer and Bauer scored both base runners. Mamaux Is Real Star

The season's best box work has been accomplished by Al Mamaux, the Pittsburgh phenom, who is several notches beyond the field.

Exhibiting his wares with a ball club that has been down deep in the rut all year, Mamaux has won 13 games and lost but 4.

This record would be fine enough with a winning club. Put through upon a losing machine it is a mark without any close rivalry in sight.

Any lingering doubt about the unusual ability of Mamaux is now swept away. Since joining the Pirates outfit in 1915 he has won 31 games and lost 9. Any young pitcher who can move at a 100 clip with a second division ball club is a marvel in an age when all commanders are judged in the man by results.

Pitching Staff Weak

John McGraw believes that the acquisition of Herzog will make his club a pennant winner. At least, John says he believes that. "But John is a pretty smooth article and perhaps he means next season. Admitting the brilliance of Herzog's playing it is not likely that the addition of one man will make a pennant winner out of a team which is at the 500 mark, with the season more than half over. The Giants have too much opposition to come through this season, and they have not the pitching strength. They have a long list of double-headers to play off in the East, both on their own grounds and in the three other Eastern cities. Double-headers are deadly for a team that is not well supplied with good pitching material. The Giants have today only two men in first-class shape and going well, namely, Benton and Amers. The rest of McGraw's staff is very uncertain.

Reds Drop Another

The Reds were defeated again Sunday, the Boston Braves winning over the Rhinelanders, 4 to 1. Toney was outpitched by Barnes. It begins to look like the club that beats out the Braves will win the National League pennant.

A SAD SITUATION

According to the Advertiser, fully one half the motor cars in Huntington, and several hundred are owned in the city, are running either with a last year's license tag, or none at all. That isn't a nice condition at all, but the owners are not so much to be blamed for it as the officials, whose duty it is to collect the license fee. Perhaps, if these latter, put in less of their time with politics and more with their duties, it would not exist. Still, at that, the autoists are not to be excused. It is especially incumbent upon them to comply with the law and regulations. The tremendous advent of the motor car has given rise to many problems of them vexations, until they are settled and complied with. If many violate a plain obligation, it is only to be expected many others will evade another, and so on, until practical lawlessness in operation will be the rule instead of the exception. Eventually this will provoke resentment and there will be enactment and enforcement of statutes that will make auto owning anything but the hilarious and reckless joy of which it appears to quaff so deeply now.

THE TALE OF JOHNNY CHUCK

From down at Narragansett Pier, Rhode Island, little Miss Lisa Katherine Waller has written us another letter and has also submitted a Bed Time Story of her own composition. It tells about Johnny Chuck, and it tells the story most interestingly. We give the story just as it came to us and we are sure that the thousands of little readers of The Times will be interested in this first literary effort of another little eight-year-old girl.

How Johnny Chuck Makes His House

Once upon a time there lived a Woodchuck named Johnny Chuck. He was very smart at making houses. He loved to make them, too. Now I think it is time to tell you how he makes them. First he finds a good place to dig. And then he begins. My! how the dust did fly! One thing was, it was a very sunny day. It was quite hot, too. But Johnny didn't mind. He kept right on digging. Soon the hole was finished. First he dug a little hole. Then he dug to one side, so that if it rained, the rain would not flood his house. Then there was a nice living room, and a bed room and a nice little kitchen. When anybody finds his house, he moves. He's a nice little furry animal. With quite a long tail. I just thought that you might like to hear a little about Johnny Chuck. Very truly Yours, Lisa Katherine Waller, Box 217, Narragansett Pier, R. I.

Down at Grayson, Ky., when the city officials do not walk in the straight and narrow path of duty, they tell 'em about it, and they tell 'em in plain and forcible language. For instance, take this mild tip handed out last week by the Eastern Kentucky Journal, of Grayson, to the mayor and health officer of the town:

"Remember the alley-cleaning proposition, and, by the way, Health Officer and Mayor, we have some of the blamest, stinkiest hog pens in this town we ever smelled, and if the Health Officer and the Mayor know anything about Health Officering or Mayoring, both know that these infernal stink-holes ought by all means be cleaned up, and you ought to be arrested and cast into a hog pen until you agree to enforce that law which prohibits these unsanitary nuisances."

Whisper it lightly, but friends and fellow countrymen, a tall, earnest looking, blonde gentleman, was seen to hand to the Honorable Myron T. Herriek a type written manuscript, as they hobnobbed in the lobby of the Washington Hotel. "This said that the document contained a history of 'Who's Who' in Scioto county and that the activities of the pesky Daugherty leaders was there, all written down that Mr. Herriek might read and ponder at his leisure."

One thing we cannot understand is why the Hon. Aronhold Schapiro had to walk with the band while the other fellows rode in the plush covered automobiles with the candidate for United States senator. Why was this? Have they already begun to Bill Sellards the Hon. Aronhold?

It seems to us that council has deliberated long enough upon the ordinance to regulate and license street fairs. It should take some action upon the ordinance before it, either pass it or else defeat it. Let us have some action so that we may know where council stands, so that the people may know what is what.

"You have sounded forth the trumpet that shall never call for retreat," says Candidate Hughes to Colonel Roosevelt. No; we suppose not. The Bull Moose is too dead to skin to say nothing of getting on its feet and executing another rear movement.

The Portsmouth, New Hampshire, Times remarks: "Mr. Munsey's New York Sun doesn't bear much resemblance to the Sun that has been our daily reading for many and many a year. Somehow it seems that, stale and unprofitable." By-the-way, other newspapers will regret the setting of the original Sun. It was, after all, not a rare expositor of quaint English, but always clear, clean and correct rhetorically. In fact its English was ever fastidious in every line, but it never lacked in strength.

Everyday Wisdom

PICNICS
A picnic, like a comic opera, has two sides. Nobody but mother knows both. Unless a man has to change six tires on the automobile, he doesn't do anything. Mother is the goat.

A man does nothing in a picnic but the glitter of potato chips and the sparkle of olives. Mother starts her part of the picnic sixty-eight hours before the curtain goes up. She must slice 25,000 slices of bread for sandwiches (it takes that many for a picnic of five people), and then jam, jelly, ham, butter, or something, each slice. She has to make a tub of potato salad, kill, pick and disassemble a hen, and a hundred other things that nobody can imagine who has never been behind the scenes, and after it is all done she must suffer the condemnation of the damned for overloading the car with food, which, if it were less by one crumb, would leave somebody unsatisfied. And she must mobilize the children twenty-five times (what is more hysterical than the start of a picnic) and then again, just as father gets his hand on the gear shift, suffer the condemnation of the damned for forgetting the paper cups and the paper and salt.

At the picnic proper she has to deal out the paper plates, open the olives, decide upon an equitable division of the potato chips, fight off designing insects, and act as bartender. Then clean up.

A man ought to puncture three tires on the way home, out of sheer shame.

More About The Sand-Pile Farm

Of course you remember about the sand-pile farm that Margery's grandfather helped her make when she couldn't play out in the yard because of the measles.

For a whole week Margery played contentedly with that farm. She watched the Japanese grass seed germinate and came up thick and green. She watched the locust trees take root in the soil that grandfather carried with just a tiny bit of real earth, and she often stuck real flowers, clovers or morning glories or daisies, in through the green grass and then played that she plucked them out of the meadow. It was lots of fun.

And by the end of the week the measles were all gone and Margery could play anywhere she wished—but, strange to say, she still played with her sand-pile farm instead of out in the yard as she had so much wanted to!

And then she had a visitor. Her cousin Tom, who lived in a distant city, arrived with his mother for a visit that had been long postponed because of those same troublesome measles. And of course the minute he stepped up on the porch, he saw the "farm."

"It's my really, truly farm," Margery explained proudly; "and it grows every day and I can play something new with it all the time."

Tom admired it quite as much as Margery had hoped he would. But after he had played with it a while he remarked, "I don't see why you call this a farm."

"Because it is one," said Margery.

"Why not?"
"Because farms have folks and houses and animals—That's why," replied Tom; "and this has nothing but grass and trees and all that."

Margery thought a minute. "That's so," she admitted; "but how can we change it?"

"We can build houses and make animals and folks from paper," said Tom, and immediately they set to work.

They got the basket of old blocks that Margery had not played with for—oh, so long, and from the blocks they made a farmhouse, a dairy, and a fine big barn. Then Margery got out her paper dolls and used as many of those had suitable clothes. Then they cut more dolls out of white paper and painted overalls on them. These were the workmen in the fields.

And that wasn't all. They built fences of toothpicks—nice, even rail fences such as any farmer would be proud to have on his farm. And then they hunted out Margery's old, old Noah's ark that she hadn't played with since she was a tiny, tiny little girl, and from that they stocked the farm. There were cows and horses (some of them had but one leg but that didn't matter, they could stand nicely in the moist sand) and watchdogs and sheep and all the animals one would want.

The children played so happily on the sand-pile farm that Tom's mother promised he should have one of his very own as soon as he got home.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY.

O-O-MENTYRE.

New York, July 17.—Ted Hunter, Marindale, poet, and steamboat captain of Crown City, Ohio, is in New York to watch the city grid and see some magazine editors. Mr. Marindale specializes in verse libre because it leaves him more time for steamboating. Soon after his arrival he dashed this off: Catlike the city sleeps

Quietly awaiting morn

When the claws outstretched

It will play with the

Scurrying mice

And inevitable fate.

See it grin, and grin and grin!

Mr. Marindale showed his verse to the room clerk at his hotel and after reading it, the clerk said: "It sounds very reasonable." This encouraged the poet so that he stuck it in his portmanteau before he went out to see editors.

He can write poems that rhyme too, and when he was ten years old his "Ode to a Rooster" got on the first page of the "Weekly Journal" of Gallipoli.

The police swooped down on Max's Busy Bee in Nassau street the other day and scrambled all his pastry and not satisfied with that they threw disinfectants all over it.

Max, who lives in a castle on the Hudson, has made his fortune selling food to newsboys, errand, and messenger boys and bootblacks in the downtown section.

For three cents a boy can get a pretty fair meal at Max's and for five cents he can get all the trimmings. However, the police discovered that what looked like a black raspberry pie was a lemon custard pie after they chased the flies off of it.

They were going to hale Max to court but he was at one of the watering places playing golf.

Mrs. Vernon Castle has gone into half mourning for her pet lap dog that was the victim of a broken neck as the result of being side-swiped by the paw of a Russian wolf hound. It was an untimely end resulting from an afternoon of frolic.

Mrs. Castle called Vernon and then took the train from Ithaca where she is posing for the movies to New York to bury the dog. Incidentally it gave her an opportunity to present her new Marie Odillo gown to Gotham.

At a little party given by Mrs. Evelyn Thibault she appeared in the new creation which promises to be one of the "last word" styles this summer. The gown is gray and white and the hat is of the same material with chiffon wound around the neck—giving a Nun effect. Vernon, she says, writes that he has been enjoying afternoon teas with the men in the trenches, sailing over to them in his aeroplane.

The hot weather—very likely the heat—has developed a new kind of Broadwayite—the hatless man. The first to appear in the streets and cafes hatless was Earl Carroll, a song writer. He has just returned from California and says everybody is doing it out there.

Those who are just entering on the hatless era have found a unique way of starting off and incidentally even up some old scores at the same time. They check their hats with the hat pirates. After finishing their meals, they just walk out without tipping them and leave their hats in exchange.

Quite the Reverses.

Ambition
Let others work and lose their health

In piling up the sordid wealth.
But that is not my wish.
Let others burn the midnight oils,
Devising ways of grabbing spoils;
I'd rather sit and fish.

Let others solve the problems great

Affecting the affairs of state;
None of that on my dish.

Let others hear the nation's path
And bear the thankless public's wrath;
I'd rather sit and fish.

Let others lead the strenuous life,
That's full of worry, toil and strife;

But that's not my ambition.
Let others wear their lives away,
By living five years every day;
I'd rather sit and fish.

As Usual

"I understand that Grace has broken with George."

"Yes! But she broke him before she broke with him."

Keeping Them Busy

A traveler, recently returned from India, was giving his impressions.

"What a country it is!" he exclaimed. "There everybody keeps dozens of servants. I had four whose whole business was to look after my pipe. One brought it to me, another filled it, a third lighted it for me—"

"The fourth smoked it for me. Tobacco never agreed with me!"

The Fan

"I'm going to move into the city for the summer."

"Into the city? I should think the summer would be just the time when you'd want to be in the country."

"What! And miss all the ball games? Not on your life."

Leave It To The Newspaper Men

"The most outrageous show I ever had of getting a fee," said a lawyer to a newspaper man, "was when a client came to me with no other asset than a watch without any works in it."

"I suppose you took the case," said the newspaper man.

In Case of Fire

Minister: "I see there's a rope here in case of fire, and I'm also very glad to see the Bible given so prominent a place by the management."

Bell Hop: "Yes sah—de Bible am intended for use, sah, in case de fire am too far advanced for de guests to make use of de rope, sah."

A Skit

Said a nice little Britany brat, Of his new little kitteny kat,

"Though he often has fits, He's a good little kites,

Why, I just hollered 'Skit!' an' he skat!"

—C. W. Bull.

Where It Hits The Law

Garlie: "I just heard a justice down the road kicking about the high price of gasoline."

Senna: "Why should he worry?"

Garlie: "He complained that the city folks that come ridin' around now haven't enough money left to pay a decent fine."

Had Been Both

A clergyman who advertised for an organist received this reply:

"Dear Sir:—I notice you have a vacancy for an organist and music teacher, either lady or gentleman. Having been both for several years I beg to apply for the position."

Obedient The Rule

"Suppose, Bobbie, that another boy should strike your right cheek?" asked the Sunday-school teacher, "what would you do?"

"Give him the other cheek to strike," said Bobbie.

"That's right," said the teacher, "Yesum," said Bobbie, "and if he struck that I'd paralyze him."—London Opinion.

POLLY AND HER PALS

Great Scott! What a Tragedy 'Twould Have Been!

BODY IS RECOVERED BY DIVER WILLIAMS

Within twenty feet from the place where it was last seen, the body of Miss Welton, aged 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Welton, Clifford, was found in the Scioto river, opposite the George B. Miller farm, Saturday afternoon, at four o'clock, by Nate Williams, a local diver. It was taken to the Welton home, not far from the scene of the finding, and was later prepared for burial by Undertaker Thomas Hartman. Late Monday afternoon, at two o'clock the funeral services are to be held. Rev. James Conklin, Ironton, will have charge of the services.

All day Saturday the river in the vicinity of the drowning was combed with grab hooks and spiked poles. Conflicting theories were advanced as to where the remains would be found. Finally A. F. Miller suggested that the local diver, Nate Williams, be summoned, and it was agreed. The diver took his apparatus to Clifford in the New Boston transfer truck, and after placing it near the river bank, where the lad was said to have disappeared, as told by the two McAllister boys, who were with him, he entered the water and after a few minutes, gave the rope, which his assistant was holding, a tug, and was hauled in. He carried the body to the shore.

Mr. Williams said that he found the boy's body in about eight feet of water, face downward, and lying over a small sand ridge. His face was somewhat spotted with black marks, due, the undertaker says, to the coagulation of the blood.

Diver Williams told the party that in his experience dynamite was of little avail, searchers for a drowned person. He said that it had no effect whatsoever upon raising the body. Another fact that he claimed he had found through experience and that was a boy's or man's body was usually found face downward and a girl's, or woman's, with the face upward.

TWO MACHINES IN COLLISION

While enroute to Rarden Sunday morning a green runabout, driven by Frank Snyder, of W. J. Friel's garage, and an automobile driven by J. E. Blackburn, Otway, had a collision near that village.

Mr. Snyder says that he and Albert Sparks were going to Rarden when they saw the Blackburn car approaching. He says they turned out of the road and was struck. The front axle of the Snyder car was bent and the steering gear was placed out of commission. The other car was not damaged, it is said.

Mr. Snyder repaired the car along the roadside and drove it back to this city.

Blackberry Alley Home Raided; Mayor Hands Out Many Fines

All the thrills of Blackberry alley were given the spectators at police court Monday morning when several who were captured in a raid on the Clarence Green house Sunday afternoon, were arraigned.

It seems as if Emma Mosley, a negro, and Mack Glass, negro, visited the Green house, Blackberry alley, Sunday. The police got a tip that there were several there and raided the house. Those captured gave their names as: Nellie Kountz, negro; Clarence Green and Mack Glass, negroes; and William Thompson, Frank Warner and Samuel Wilson, white.

Emma Mosley admitted that she had accompanied Mack Glass to the Green house but denied a charge that she had taken $15 from him. She was fined $25 and costs and was sentenced to thirty days at the Cincinnati workhouse.

"Well, sir, I meet up with dis here lady," said Mack Glass, in explaining how it occurred, "and I see wants to correspond with her and so she agreed and we went up. I had $27 then and I gave her one dollar and when I left fifteen dollars was missin'." He was fined $10 and costs, $5 of which was suspended, on a charge of visiting a disorderly house.

Nellie Kountz contended that she had stopped at the house to see Clarence Green who formerly lived at her home. She was fined $10 and costs, five of which was suspended.

Clarence Green alleged that he had never seen either Glass or the Mosley woman before Sunday and that they had called at his house and asked for permission to "sit there for awhile." "He offered me twenty-five cents and I took it." He pleaded not guilty to a charge of operating a house for immoral purposes and was fined $25 and costs.

William Thompson, Frank Warner and Samuel Wilson, three white men, were each fined $10 and costs, five of which was suspended pending good behavior. They were charged with visiting a house of ill fame.

Frank Warner and Samuel Wilson had been staying at the Green house for several days, according to their statements, while they were looking for work.

New Efficiency Valve Solves Gasoline Price

The high price of gasoline has been successfully solved, according to the statement of Harold Potts, son of J. F. Potts, who has secured the sole rights of the Marshall Efficiency Valve, which he has placed on several Portsmouth machines.

The valve, according to a big list of testimonials secured by Mr. Potts, will develop more power, mileage and speed, and use less gasoline, carbon and prevent more profanity. Mr. Potts has testimonials from that in every instance it has done miles more were developed with the new attachment than before it was placed on their Maxwell car. The valve is guaranteed to give from 25 to 50 per cent more mileage on a gallon of gasoline and should prove quite a boon to auto motors, who are paying from 24 to 25 cents per gallon for their gasoline. The valve will be placed on a car for a week or ten days' trial and is sold strictly on its merits.

Mr. Potts reports that he has placed the valve on more than twenty-five Portsmouth cars and that in every instance it has done what is claimed for it. It is so made as to fit any car.

Boy Scout News

The East End Boy Scouts, of Troop 8, will hold their mid-summer rally tonight at the Monby. M. E. church. A fine program has been arranged and all members should be out. The camping committee, consisting of Scouts Dunn, Davis and Knowles, will make their report and all scouts of the troop who intend making the trip to the Carter Caves camp must be present and turn in their names and receive final instructions.

Other features of tonight's program will be the reading of our Sport Extra. Come out and hear Saturday's game in detail. Manager Hamilton will also give a talk on the subject: "The Winning Spirit." Also we will have 2 fine chapters from the serial: "The Testing of Bill Carson." Last, but not least, it will be East End Bugle night, and our new little magazine will be read. Some of the leading articles are as follows: "When John Lost"; "Dear Old Carter Caves"; "How F. Davis Sends His Messages"; "When Wild Widge Aeroplained." Every member will enjoy them.

Our troop is the only troop in the city holding meetings during the warm months, and we want to keep up our good record. Be on hand at 7:00 tonight.

FRANK EHLENDT, Scribe.

BOY WANDERS AWAY; FOUND ON "SQUARE"

Robert Russell, aged 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Russell, 710 Gay street, wandered away from his home Sunday evening about six-thirty o'clock on his velocipede and was not found until eight-thirty o'clock. The boy's absence was not noticed for about a half an hour when his father called him and failed to get a response. The news of the lad's disappearance traveled rapidly and several were out looking for "the boy riding a velocipede and wearing a white suit."

He was found by Mrs. Lucile Legler at the corner of Gallia and Chillicothe streets about 8:30 o'clock intently watching the services of the Salvation Army.

Married In Pike County

George Leiniger, aged 35, an engineer of this city, and Miss Enid Wilson, of Stockdale, Pike county, were married at the bride's home there several days ago. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Cleland, of Waverly. Mr. and Mrs. Leiniger will reside in Portsmouth.

HERRICK SUPPORTERS ARE WELL PLEASED

"We were well pleased with the reception and meeting given to Hon. Myron T. Herrick, who is candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senator Friday evening," said Aronhold C. Schapiro, secretary of the Herrick Voters' League of Scioto County. Monday, in discussing the meeting. We were pleased with the crowds and the interest taken in the candidacy of Mr. Herrick. The meeting has given our membership cards quite an impetus and we expect to receive many more this week.

The Herrick League is distributing literature and half-price pictures throughout the county and are now soliciting membership cards, the exact number of which will be announced later.

GRAND JURY IN SESSION

Judge Will P. Stephenson, West Union, arrived in the city Monday morning and will remain here to receive the report of grand jury which convened at nine o'clock to consider about twelve cases. It is expected that Monday will make a report late Monday afternoon.

GETTING OUT BOOK

Edgar Schilder, a cartoonist and a nephew of George A. Goodman, of this city, is now in Atlanta getting out a book that will contain caricatures of the leading business men of that city. It will be called "Who is Who in Atlanta." Mr. Schilder at one time was located in Portsmouth.

WILL ATTEND MEETING

Messrs. Simon Labold and Geo. E. Carlyle left Sunday for Cedar Point, where they will attend a meeting of prominent brick manufacturers from all parts of Ohio. They motored to Cedar Point.

BACK FROM BUFFALO

Howard Rowe, of this city, and Councilman L. Palmer, of Sciotoville, have returned from Buffalo, where they attended a Shriner's meeting. It was attended by Shriner's from all parts of the country and they report having a most delightful trip.

FIREMAN RESIGNS

Dave Scott has resigned his job as city fireman. He was appointed fireman in the East End company the first of the year. Mr. Scott has taken a position as foreman of the "treeing" department in the Selby shoe plant. He formerly was employed as a clerk in Frank J. Baker's shoe store.

CAPT. BAY'S TRIAL BEGINS MONDAY

The commonwealth vs. Capt. William Bay for the killing of Basil Kitts at Fullerton several years ago. The trial will begin Monday—Greenup Republican.

It will be recalled that Kitts was killed while walking along the bank near Fullerton. The boat on which Captain Bay was riding was rocked by unknown citizens and as a sequel Kitts' dead body was found on the bank. It was claimed at that time that some person on the boat killed Kitts with a shotgun.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ATTENDANCE

For the first time in almost a year the Bible school attendance Sunday dropped below the 4500 mark. The total was only 4206, there being a drop of 493 from the Sunday before. Only two schools had over 500 present. Christian took the lead with 585. Manly and Second Presbyterian dropped below 500 for the first time in months. The hot weather is causing the big decrease each Sunday. Sunday's record:

Christian	585
Trinity	549
Second Presbyterian	478
Manly	382
German Evangelical	271
First Presbyterian	250
Bigelow	244

Coming Sunday

Rev. Merle C. Winn and bride, missionaries of the Second Presbyterian church, who are to labor in Japan, will be at the Second church next Sunday. They will remain about a week. Members of the church will pay the salary of Mr. and Mrs. Winn, who expect to make the acquaintance of many members of the church during their short stay here.

ON PRACTICE CRUISE

Philadelphia, Pa., July 17.—The battleship Illinois and cruiser Chicago with naval militia men aboard, sailed from the Philadelphia navy yard at sunrise today for the annual practice cruise off the Southern New England coast. The battleships Indiana and Rhode Island with middle western militia men which left the yard early yesterday passed out to sea last night.

Thousands of people go through TIMES WANT ADS every night. They read them with profit.

RISE IN OHIO IS COMING

The Ohio river is expected to reach a 25 foot stage here by tomorrow noon, caused by a flood in the Kanawha river.

This was the word received from Weather Forecaster Devoreaux of Cincinnati by Fred B.

Rev. Townsend Heard Here

The Second Presbyterian church was well filled Sunday morning and evening when Rev. Edwin Townsend of the First Presbyterian church at Ironton occupied the pulpit in the place of Rev. George P. Horst, who occupied Rev. Townsend's pulpit. Rev. Townsend delivered two very interesting sermons and he was invited to return.

MR. ROTH WILL MAKE HIS REPORT

Conrad Roth, delegate from the Second Presbyterian church to the National Prohibition convention held recently in Indianapolis, will make a report of his trip at the mid-week prayer services at the Second church Wednesday evening.

RACING AT FINDLAY

Findlay, O., July 17.—An immense string of horses has arrived for the opening this afternoon of the five days' races of the Findlay Trotting Association. There will be two $500 purses each day, the total in all classes for the meet being $11,500.

Engineer Shobe Substitutes At Throttle, Meets Tragic Death

Frank Shobe, one of the oldest trainmen on the line, was the engineer pinned under his engine and killed Friday afternoon when C. H. & D. passenger train No. 202 was wrecked at Glen Nell, near Hamden, O.

The baggage and mail car partly turned over and the remainder of the train left the rails.

Engineer Shobe was substituting for Engineer Frank Pease who is on a vacation. He was well known in local railroad circles.

Trigger Of Revolver Snapped; Young Man Is Shot In Ankle

James Houston Varner, aged 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Varner of 1815 Timmonds avenue, is rapidly recovering from a bullet wound he accidentally received several days ago in his right ankle.

When a 32 revolver was being examined by several boys at the Carter County Caves the trigger of the weapon was accidentally snapped and the bullet lodged in Varner's right ankle, a dangerous wound being inflicted. The bullet was located by surgeons and it was successfully removed. Varner was later brought to his home here and the wound is healing nicely.

MAN IS MISSING FEAR FOUL PLAY

Fear that some mishap has befallen Myran Mullins, 2909 Gallia street, caused Mrs. Mullins and daughters, Estella and Mrs. Benjamine Runk, of East Portsmouth, to leave Monday for a trip through Kentucky in search of Mr. Mullins who has not been heard of for ten days when he was sent money on which to return from Myrah, Ky.

Mr. Mullins it will be remembered had his left limb badly injured in an accident while at work on the new Scioto river bridge about a year ago. He is 53 years of age and is a carpenter. He left home on crutches about two weeks ago for a visit with his brother, J. A. Mullins, in the Cumberland mountains in Kentucky.

About ten days ago a short letter was received by Mrs. Mullins in which Mr. Mullins said that he had met a man with an automobile who was to take him to his brother's home. The letter was mailed at Myrah, Ky., where he requested that money be sent to pay for his return home.

As Mr. Mullins has not arrived and no word has been received, his relatives fear that he has met with an accident in the automobile or foul play. Telegrams to his brother and the postmaster at Myrah, Ky., have not been answered.

Big Crowd At Concert

Intense heat in the city drove hundreds of people to the cool breezes that swept through Millbrook Sunday night and the concert rendered by the River City band in the Casino was enjoyed by the largest crowd of the summer. The band played that favorite overture "Morning, Noon and Night" and was compelled to respond to several encores.
